NEW EVIDENCE IS OFFERED FOR IMPEACHMENT OF JUDGE ENGLISH

Attorney C. M. Polk Contradicts Testimony Given by Jurist and W. H. Sawyer at Hearing.

QUESTIONS TRUTH OF THEIR EVIDENCE

Declares They Both Knew How Charles B. Thomas Was Foisted Upon Tractation Receivers.

Congressman Harry B. Hawes has filed with the subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee a letter from a St. Louis attorney who declared that Federal Judge George W. English of East St. Louis compelled bondholders of the Alton, Granite & Louis, Inc., Co. to accept him as referee in bankruptcy. Charles B. Thomas as attorney and eventual dictator in its receivership. The subcommittee is now preparing its report, to be made to the entire committee at the approaching session of Congress of its investigation to determine if Judge English should be impeached.

This job, which Thomas held by appointment of Judge English, netted Thomas approximately $44,000 in fees over a period of 51 months, ending last January, when Thomas resigned seven lucrative positions with Judge English as receiver or attorney for receivers.

Three of these positions brought Thomas $2350 a month in fees, in addition to his fees as Bankruptcy Referee in Judge English's court, the Eastern Judicial District of Illinois. His salary in the four other positions was not disclosed in the investigation of the Congressional Committee here last month.

Thomas Resigned Jan. 8.

It will be recalled that Thomas resigned as Referee in Bankruptcy on Jan. 8 last, the day the Post-Dispatch published the fact that his conduct was under investigation by this newspaper and the Department of Justice. Ten days later Thomas received five receiverships and two partnerships for receivers tenured him by Judge English.

The new complaint against Judge English was made by Charles M. Polk, attorney for the Alton, Granite & St. Louis bondholders, who questions the veracity of testimony given before the Congressional Committee here last spring by Judge English and W. H. Sawyer, one of the tractation receivers.

Polk is a member of the law firm of Polk & Lee, which has offices in the Rialto Building.

"The reason that I have not therefore notified you of these facts," Polk wrote Hawes, who initiated the House resolution for a full investigation of Judge English's official conduct, "is that I fear, until recently that I could not in justice to the bondholders of the tractation company, whom I represent, take any action antagonistic to Judge English, because by doing so I might harm the interest of these bondholders."

Alleges Bias by English.

He then quotes a recent action of Judge English, which he thinks illustrates "such blind and callous toward me, that I do not believe I preclude any rights of my clients by revealing what I believe to be the true facts in connection with the appointment of Judge Thomas as one of the attorneys for the receivers of the tractation company."

Polk's letter follows:

"On Aug. 6, 1920, representing bondholders of the Alton, Granite & St. Louis Tractation Co., I and Urbana, Ill., with Judge M. Sawyer of Belleville, Ill. (now deceased) and Mr. W. H. Sawyer, respectively the attorney and manager of the Alton, Granite & St. Louis Tractation Co., I think Mr. W. Gregory, treasurer of John Flanagan, and together we presented an application for the appointment of a receiver for the tractation company. After reading our petition and after a conference with us, Judge English stated that he thought a receiver should be appointed, and asked whom we desired to have appointed as receiver."

We suggested Mr. Sawyer, also Fred E. Allen of this city, who, Judge English said, were agreeable if preferable to us. He then asked the draft of a decree which had been prepared, and told us to file it with the Clerk and have it entered, which was done by Mr. Schaefer and myself.

SLAYER OF HUSBAND SENTENCED TO DEATH

MYSTERY LETTER BRINGS PAUSE IN RHINELANDER CASE

New Jersey Woman Declares a Stranger Killed Her Third Mate.

By the Associated Press.
ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Fannie Soper, convicted of murder in the first degree, in the killing of her third husband, Henry Soper, was sentenced to death in the electric chair by Supreme Court Justice Whitmyer today.

The date of execution was set for the week beginning Jan. 3. A Soper displayed no emotion.

The Court temporarily denied motion by defense counsel that the verdict be set aside and that a new trial be granted on the ground that the Court did not properly instruct the jury as to the credibility of Dr. Albert Hamilton of Auburndale, expert witness for the prosecution, and that the verdict was contrary to law.

The Court recessed until Dec. 1, when, it is expected, the defense will renew its attempt to have the verdict set aside.

Mrs. Soper, thrice wed and widow at 49, was yesterday convicted. Ope Soper was a deputy sheriff of Botquet.

A jury, largely of farmers, yesterday returned a verdict of murder in the first degree.

If Mrs. Soper is put to death, she will be the fourth of her sex whom the State has exacted in recent years. Martha Place, who was convicted in New York County, was executed in Sing Sing prison on March 20, 1898. Mary Farmer, convicted in Jefferson County, was put to death in Auburn prison on March 29, 1899, and Mary Roxilia Drus was hanged in Herkimer Feb. 28, 1887, for the murder of her husband.

Henry Soper was shot twice in the head as he slept in the kitchen of his farmhouse after a hard morning's work in the fields. Mrs. Soper maintained that a stranger came to the door, and admitted he was a man she had not seen before. The man, who had not been identified, was found dead.

The two letters are among about 100 which Leonard sent Alice. Both the letters read like telegrams, an act which he has said would break young Rhinelander.

The contents of these letters are admittedly of sensational character.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—

A sudden and unexpected adjournment of the Leonard Kip Rhinelander annulment trial by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser came yesterday afternoon after Lee Parsons Davis, attorney for Mrs. Rhinelander, had produced a second "mystery" letter, written by Rhinelander, to his part-negro wife.

The letter was not read into the record, but, like the first "mystery" letter of two days ago, was given to Rhinelander to read and then marked for identification. The character of the letter was pretty clearly indicated by the questions leading up to its production.

Youth Under Arrest.
For more than an hour Davis had been forcing the young Rhinelander to recount intimate details of his pre-marital relations with his wife in the Hotel Marie Antoinette in December, 1921, and January, 1922.

Rhinelander, stammering more than ever, said that at times neither his attorneys nor the court stenographer could understand his replies, had offered confused and contradictory explanations for the same picture his testimony painted, and his trial counsel, Isaac N. Mills, had sought unsuccessfully to get his order by objecting what he termed "the third degree methods" of Justice Morschauser.

The latter, abandoning suddenly his relentless quest for additional details, picked the young son of an aristocratic family if his relations with the daughter of a negro taxi-driver in the Marie Antoinette had been other than the natural relations in such circumstances. Rhinelander replied in the negative. Davis asked him if he was sure and Rhinelander answered he was.

Produces Letter.
"Did you write this letter and mail it through the mails?" Davis demanded as he handed Rhinelander a letter. Rhinelander glanced at it and said he had.

Justice Morschauser announced a recess and the jurors left the room. Davis and Mills followed. Justice Morschauser into the latter's private chambers. Justice Morschauser participated in the conference for a few minutes and withdrew. The two attorneys continued to talk the privacy of his chambers. Finally, after 25 minutes the lawyers fled back. Davis and Mills resumed their places and Justice Morschauser took his seat on the bench.

Instead of directing Davis to produce his cross-examination, Justice Morschauser announced addicted. Otto Burk, husband of Mrs. Eura Burk, who was found with her eight children in destitute circumstances at 1340 Janbury avenue, was a patient at a United States Veterans' Hospital at Rolla, Mo., a notorious agency, according to Charles G. Beck, general manager of the Veterans' Bureau. Beck said today there is no Government hospital at Rolla, and that records of the bureau show no one by the name of Otto Burk. Mrs. Burk told a representative of the bureau that her husband was not an ex-service man.

MYSTERY LETTER BRINGS PAUSE IN RHINELANDER CASE

Court Suddenly Adjourned When Counsel for Part Negro Wife Produces Missive.

REPORT THAT TRIAL MAY BE CLOSED

Attorneys for Opposing Sides, However, Refuse to Comment on Possibility of Settlement.

By the Associated Press.
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The Rhinelander annulment trial scheduled for resumption this morning was adjourned until Monday to give counsel for Leonard Kip Rhinelander, the plaintiff, opportunity to make necessary investigations into the contents of the "mystery" letters that caused sudden adjournment of the case yesterday.

The Rhinelander case had been adjourned yesterday under circumstances that gave rise to rumors that it would be withdrawn, the principals were in court.

Isaac N. Mills, counsel for Rhinelander, and Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for Mrs. Rhinelander, were in private conference in Justice Morschauser's chambers. Just before the morning adjournment Mills and Leon R. Jacobson, associated with Mills in the case, went into conference with his colleague. It was understood that Davis had read the contents of at least two of the letters which have made their appearance in the case under unusual conditions, but which have not been made public.

The two letters are among about 100 which Leonard sent Alice. Both the letters read like telegrams, an act which he has said would break young Rhinelander.

counsel, W. M. Acton of Danville, Ill. Judge English testified that he signed the order appointing the receivers when it was presented to him, as Sawyer and Allen represented to him that they were "the choice and selection of the stockholders and bondholders."

Asked by Acton if the appointment of Thomas was made at the request of anyone, Judge English replied, according to the printed record of the hearing, as follows: "At their special and urgent request I appointed Judge Thomas. They had agreed on it, and had everything written out in that order. Just as it was presented to me." His reference was to Sawyer and Allen.

Sawyer, who is president of the East St. Louis & Suburban Railroad and subsidiary companies, was asked by Attorney Polk during his testimony at the hearing "if Judge English at any time suggested to you that you should employ C. B. Thomas or was he named?"

Sawyer Didn't Remember.

Sawyer answered: "I do not remember of his doing it." He testified further that he and Allen recommended Thomas as counsel for the receivers, and to assist the receivers, after working with him as special counsel for several months.

Allen, who is president of the Union Service Co., 1217 Spruce street, and who resides at the Forest Park Hotel, declined to discuss any phase of the case when seen yesterday. He was not a witness at the hearing.

A Post-Dispatch reporter examined the files of the case in the office in East St. Louis of the District Clerk of Judge English's Court. The original order appointing the temporary receivers dated Aug. 6, makes no mention of the appointment of Thomas as counsel for the receivers, as was testified by Judge English.

The order approving the receiver's bonds, of $30,000 each, was filed Aug. 11, 1920, the court records show. Written at the bottom of the order is a list of the officers of the temporary receivership, together with the monthly salary of each. Thomas is listed as "special counsel" at a monthly salary of $200.

First Evidence in Files.

This was the first documentary evidence found in the files relating to the appointment of Thomas, and bears out Attorney Polk's assertion that Thomas was appointed after a second conference of interested parties with Judge English.

The order broadening the duties and increasing the salary of Thomas, mentioned in Polk's letter and spoken of by Sawyer in his testimony, was filed Jan. 20, 1921. The same day the receivership was made permanent, and bears the names of Sawyer and Allen. The order was approved by Judge English and a request in it that the increase in Thomas' salary be made retroactive to Oct. 1, 1920, was granted.

Bondholders of the Alton, Granite City & St. Louis Traction Co., which operates a traction system between St. Louis and Alton, applied for the receivership because the company defaulted in its bond interest payments for the 12 months prior to the time the proceedings were instituted.

LEAGUE TO GIVE
FRANCE CHANCE TO PACIFY SYRIANew Commissioner, However, Will Be Expected to Show Definite Results by February.REPORT THEN

End Mandate but It Can Focus Attention on Conditions.Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publishing Company, New York, World
Post-Dispatch.GENEVA, Nov. 20.—The campaign to inject the Syrian situation into the December Council of the League of Nations will result in the matter being sketchily discussed, along with the report of the Mandates Commission and then postponed until the March Council, the correspondent is authoritatively informed.The League will give Henri de Jouvenel, the new French High Commissioner to Syria, the fullest opportunity to carry out his plans for restoration of order and fulfillment of France's obligations under her mandate; but it will expect definite results by February, when a special session of the Mandates Commission will be held to consider reports on Syria and Irak.Reports that the league would consider replacing France as the mandatory Power, probably substituting Germany, are without foundation, since the league has no authority to revoke the mandates. It is pointed out that the mandates were distributed by the Allied Supreme Council, which is now dissolved, after Germany and Turkey surrendered sovereignty over the territories in behalf of the major allied Powers. The league is merely entrusted with seeing that the terms of the mandates are carried out; it can act no further than to focus public attention upon maladministration.France can voluntarily surrender the Syrian mandate, recommending autonomy or independence to the territory. This is regarded as inconceivable.Petitions have been received from Syrians, Lebanese, Arabs, Druses, etc., as well as from societies outside Syria, demanding that the league intervene. They point out that France has neither preserved order nor taken steps to formulate an organic law upon which a constitution for the territory should be based before next September.Auto Bus Attacked Near Damascus, 10 Killed.By the Associated Press.
BEIRUT, Syria, Nov. 20.—Ten civilians, 6 men and 4 women, were killed or wounded when a motor bus proceeding from Beirut to Damascus was attacked a few miles north east of the latter city.Dispatches say the attack occurred in the region where the Druse tribemen and endeavoring to induce the inhabitants of various villages to rise against the French.
The soldiers were acting as an escort for the bus.The rebels who occupied Hassan, a part of the city, have been unsuccessful in attempting to enter neighboring villages. The Druses appear to be falling back in an easterly direction. French reinforcements arrived here today.Commissioner Says He Will Strive

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Henry de
Jouvenel, newly appointed French
High Commissioner to Syria, arrived in London yesterday to confer with Foreign Secretary Chamberlain."My policy is to work with the League of Nations and to bring to Syria full independence, at the soonest possible moment," de Jouvenel said in a public statement.It was necessary, he added, for France to preserve the closest relations with Great Britain, as the interests of both in the Near East were identical.YOUTH GIVEN 20 YEARS

METROPOLIS, Ill., Nov. 20.—
Kenneth Baldwin, 18 years old, was sentenced Monday by a jury in Pope County Circuit Court to 20 years' imprisonment for slaying his father, W. W. Baldwin, last Sept.
16, near Herod.Witnesses testified the father and son had quarreled during the day about harvesting corn. Early that evening, they said, the elder Baldwin left the house, threatening to reprimand the youth. George Harden, a neighbor, told of hearing a shot and rushing out to find Baldwin dead with a charge of shot in his chest. Further testimony showed that when Harden operated a still and forced young Baldwin to stand guard with a shotgun at night. The youth had fled into the woods after the shooting. He returned and surrendered.
The defense plea was self defense.

1800 Men's $6, $7.50 and $10 Sweaters

Jumbos, Shakers, Cardigan Knit, Pullovers and Coats

The whole town will wonder how we did it. A large Chicago maker went through his stock and found that he had many small lots which he wanted to dispose of in double quick time. On account of our friendly business relationship with him, he called us long distance and gave us first shot at it. We snapped them up—for he simply gave them away. They are all-wool Sweaters, commercial wool Sweaters, and wool-mixed Sweaters, with and without collars in pull-over and coat styles, in plain colors as well as novelty effects. We doubt whether you have seen Sweaters like these at this price before. Naturally, the best ones will go first, so we urge you to come early. Sizes 36 to 46.....

TWO BOYS ARE BURNED, ONE FATALLY, PLAYING WITH FIRE

Donald, 4, Dies at City Hospital After His Clothing Had Become Ignited.

Two small boys were burned, one fatally, while playing with fire when left unwatched in their homes yesterday.

Donald Reddy, 4 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reddy of 2842 Hickory street, died at the City Hospital early today. He obtained some matches while his mother was at a grocery store at 5 p.m. yesterday and in some way ignited his clothing. A roomer in the house heard him scream and was beating out the flames when the mother returned. Burned match sticks were found on the floor.

Kenneth Kurczynski, 2, was critically burned when his grandmother, Mrs. Frances Kurczynski, left him in her room at 1508A North Twelfth street. He built a fire of wood and paper on the kitchen floor and ignited his clothing. His mother, Mrs. Leo Kurczynski, ran up from the first floor and carried him to the City Hospital.

LUTHER SAYS GERMAN CABINET WILL RESIGN

This Action Will Be Taken After Security Pact Is Signed at London.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Chancellor Luther told the party leaders today that the Government will resign after the Locarno pact signing ceremony in London on Dec. 1, and that a new Cabinet will be formed in sympathy with the Locarno policies and obligations.

The Premiers of the German Federated States have given their sanction to the Locarno treaties and the Cabinet of Chancellor Luther has approved the draft of a law empowering Germany's representatives formally to sign the treaties.

The expectation in political circles that the bill, which will be introduced to the Reichstag Monday, will receive a large majority, as the parliamentary opposition to the Government's program consists only of communists, Nationalists and fascists.

In consequence of the Chancellor's conferences with party leaders, the Government is assured a big majority in the Reichstag for acceptance of the Locarno treaties.

$1300 STOLEN BY BURGLARS

IN EAST ST. LOUIS BUILDING

Eleven Offices Entered at Night and Combinations of Six Safes Hammered Off.

Safe robbers ransacked 11 offices in the Murphy Building, 232 Collingsville avenue, East St. Louis, last night and escaped by way of a fire escape with cash estimated at $1300.

The largest loss was suffered by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. on the sixth floor, where money taken from the safe was estimated at about $1000. The First and Southern Life Insurance Co., on the second floor, reported the loss of $275, and other offices reported small thefts. Sixteen pints of whisky were taken from a drug store on the second floor.

The robbers apparently entered through a window opening on the fire escape. They moved through the building and broke glass in doors in order to gain entrance to the offices. Combinations of six safes had been hammered off and the doors opened.

Papers and checks from various safes were found in room 616, where the robbers apparently fired out their loot before departing. No night watchman is kept in the building. It has been entered several times before.

ADDRESS ON EARTHQUAKES

The fourth of a series of lectures on earthquakes was delivered last night by the Rev. James B. Macelwane, S. J., director of the department of geophysics of St. Louis University.

From a review of the descriptions of earthquakes, the Rev. Macelwane concluded that the area of greatest intensity lies along a known fault trace; that earthquakes may occur far from any volcano, and that even in the neighborhood of a volcano they are not correlated with any sign of volcanic activity, and that they associate themselves in groups along fault traces.

MINER BECOMES MILLIONAIRE

By the Associated Press.
VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 20.—Thomas Kirkland, who rushed into the Yukon 27 years ago, has signed an agreement with Maj. A. R. Ross whereby the Kirkland gold mine, Aulin, B. C., will be turned over to a group of New York financiers. Kirkland, who has spent almost all of his active life on the trail and in prospectors' camps, becomes a millionaire through the deal.

The New York financiers will put between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 into the mine, which adjoins the Wilkie Engineer Mine, owned and being developed by New York and Philadelphia interests.

NEW PROBLEM FOR UNITED STATES IN NICARAGUAN COUP

Shall Precedent Against Recognition of Governments Obtaining Power
Through Violence Apply?

ACTUAL FORCE NOT USED BY USURPERS

But He Took Fortress and Legal President Is Said to Be Virtually a Prisoner.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-22 Wyatt Bldg.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The coup d'état about three weeks by Gen. Emiliano Chamorro, resulting in the return to power of the Chamorro family in Nicaragua, presents a new problem to the State Department.

No actual force was used by Chamorro. He simply took over the fortress overlooking Managua, the Nicaraguan capital, and demanded that President Solorzano dismiss the Liberal members of his Cabinet, indicating he desired to take over the ministry of war temporarily.

The garrison went over to Gen. Chamorro. The newly organized Nicaraguan constabulary was helpless, lacking arms and ammunition. While Chamorro did not actually enter the Cabinet, to all intents and purposes the Chamorro family is again in the saddle in the Central American Republic, which it has ruled and virtually owned for many years.

State Department Precedent.
The American State Department has gone on record emphatically on several occasions against extending recognition to any new Government which comes into power through violence, but there is a question whether that term can be strictly applied in this instance, although the result is precisely the same. President Solorzano, surrounded by Chamorro followers, had no alternate but to obey orders.

The Chamorro coup, if permitted to stand as a precedent, threatens dictatorship throughout Central America. Charles C. Eberhardt, the American Minister, is keeping the State Department advised pending determination of the policy to be pursued.

Return to power of the Chamorros has centered attention on the dramatic career of these soldiers of fortune. They ruled Nicaragua for years prior to 1912. In that year condition brought about by the Chamorro regime resulted in the landing of American marines to put down rebels and more than 100 of them remained there as a legion guard until August of this year.

Marines Withdrawn.
An election was held last November which presumably represented free expression of the will of the people. Immediately after he assumed power President Solorzano organized a cabinet and the marines were withdrawn.

Less than three months after the legation guard left Nicaragua, Gen. Chamorro, former President, executed his coup. American marines had saved the Chamorros in 1912 and made Nicaragua safe for them for 12 years, but their absence enabled the General again to seize power.

Some reports reaching Washington indicate that President Solorzano is virtually a prisoner. Chamorro's opponents declare Solorzano is president in name only.

SAYS GOV. SMITH CAUSED BREAKDOWN OF DRY LAW
Methodist Bishop Doubts if Southern Democrats Could Vote for Him for President.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Bishop James Cannon Jr., chairman of the Commission on Temperance and Social Service in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, last night issued a statement pointing out that his commission had no connection with the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which recently attacked the proposed candidacy of Gov. Smith of New York for the presidency.

"From editorial statements in the secular press and from letters and telegrams which have come to me," he said, "it is evident that there is a failure on the part of many persons to discriminate between the commissions of the Southern Church and the Board of the Northern branch."

Bishop Cannon, however, criticized Gov. Smith for his stand against prohibition. "He declared it was only natural that a Southern Democrat, approving the national prohibition law, could support Gov. Smith for President."

"The breakdown in law enforcement in New York is directly attributable to the opposition of Gov. Smith to the prohibition law," he said.

the scene of the murder, on that night. He saw a policeman approaching on foot, running east to Grand Boulevard, where he boarded a street car and went home.

The brevity of his testimony protected him from cross-examination. He had opened no avenue or questioning for the State, and after a few perfunctory queries he was sent back to his chair.

His attorneys urged upon Judge Hartmann instructions almost identical to those given in the case of William Boerman, who was acquitted last week of the murder of a policeman, but the Judge refused them. The instructions would have required the jury to convict only if they decided that Gregori actually fired the fatal shot, while the State was seeking to prove conspiracy.

MacNider Opposes Memorial Site.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Acting Secretary of War MacNider has disapproved a proposal advanced by Frederick H. Gibbs of New York for erection in Arlington National Cemetery of a memorial to the Southern women of the Civil War. He considered the site inappropriate for such a memorial, he said, and thought it would create an undesirable precedent.

Mother Joint Guardian of Heir.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—An interim fight for the guardianship of 11-year-old John Wolfe Thorne, heir to his father's $3,000,000 esteate, was ended today when Surrogate Foley appointed the boy's mother, Mrs. Mary Casey Thorne, as joint guardian with Edward S.

ADVERTISEMENT A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary soap suds from any drug store. This is all you will need.

Apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single scale and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly.

Active business men would enjoy better health and greater energy if they drank tea at lunch and in the evening.

CHINESE WALL LEGEND PRESERVED IN TEMPLE

Lament of Pious Widow Caused Part of Structure to Fall, It Is Said.

Correspondence of the Associated Press CHINWANGTAO, Oct. 30.—Where the Pekin-Mukden Railway pierces the Great Wall of China at Shanhuiwan is a temple erected to the memory of a pious wife whose husband perished in the building of the structure.

Chin Huang, the Emperor who unified all China, ascended to the throne in 246 B. C. It was Chin who built the Great Wall to keep the country together.

A woman from the South, so the legend runs, brought cotton-wadded clothes for her man, who had been impressed by the Emperor to help build the wall. She was told that her husband had died, and that she could not have his body because it had been thrown between the brick facings of the wall and crushed there under tons of rubble and earth.

The woman persuaded her comrade to go home to show her the stretch of wall where the body of her husband lay. Three days and three nights thereafter she walked up and down that length until the compassion of the divine power was excited by her laments, and that part of the wall collapsed.

The scandal came to the ears of the Emperor, who recognized beneath his tyranny that the conduct of the woman had been most orthodox. To regularize the matter, he directed that she be admitted to his household. First, however, he granted her prayer that she be permitted to select the bones of her husband for more decent burial.

The woman gathered up her husband's bones and walked to the end of the wall, abutting on the sea, from which, before the guards could stop her, she cast the bones into the sea and herself after them.

The image of the pious wife, in imperial robes, stands in the temple near the spot, while the breach in the wall is now perpetual.

MASTERPIECES STOLEN FROM CHATEAU, SOUGHT IN U. S.

Paintings Cut From Frames Are Suspected to be in Hands of Collectors.

Special to the Post-Dispatch NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Search for nine paintings by old masters, stolen from the Chateau de Montfort in France, will be carried to every part of the United States, detectives announced here today.

The paintings which were cut from their frames in one of the most daring robberies in the criminal annals of France, are believed to have been smuggled into this country. It is believed possible that they have been purchased by private collectors in this country, who are willing to pay any price to secure masterpieces.

A Holbein, a Van Dyke and a Velasquez are included among the stolen paintings. The Chateau de Montfort is at Meullies. Agents for Lloyds, London insurance firm, are prosecuting the search. There is a reward of $50,000 for the return of the paintings, which were insured with the London agency for a large sum.

MANY SOVIET EMBEZZLERS Low Wages in Government Service a Factor.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch

MOSCOW, Nov. 1.—Low salaries paid to persons in Government service in Soviet Russia and the high cost of living have produced the inevitable result. Embezzlements are reported every day. Some are for large amounts, but most of them of sums sufficient to pay for the necessities of life. The commissariat of justice has been notified from Minsk that 440 cases of embezzlement have been presented in court there, chiefly those of employees of co-operative organizations.

The total involved is less than $125,000, but the punishment is severe, the death penalty being imposed more often for embezzlement than for murder.

WATCHMAN STABBED BY NEGRO

Michael J. Smith, 50 years old, a watchman for the Rock Island Railroad, was stabbed in the left arm shortly before 7 a. m. yesterday by a negro whom he discovered attempting to open a carload of potatoes in the railroad yards at Second and Brooklyn streets.

Smith arrested the negro and was taking him to an office in the railroad yards to summon police, when the prisoner drew a knife and slashed the watchman's left shoulder and arm. The negro then fled. Smith was treated at city hospital and taken to his home, 2700 Garfield avenue.

WOMAN, 54, DIES AFTER FALL

Mrs. Kate Hussman, 54 years old, a widow, of 1811 O'Fallon street, died in her home at 12:30 a.m. today of a fractured skull and internal injuries suffered Wednesday when she fell down a flight of stairs from the second floor of her home.

Police reported she had ascended the stairs to visit her daughter, Mrs. Mary Flowers, and was opening a door outward to go into the flat when she became overbalanced.

Says Ed is Skinniest Man in Town

Cheerup, Ed—things aren't as bad as they look to you right now. Many hundreds of skinny, gaunt emaciated men looked even worse than you do till someone told them about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets (the new way to take Cod Liver Oil) and how it would put pounds of good firm flesh on your bones in just a few weeks.

Nothing like these health creating, weight producing tablets for skinny, underweight men, as thousands can testify. Start to take them today—60 tablets—60 cents at Wolff-Wilson, Walgreen Drug Co., successors to Judge & Dolph Drug Stores; Enderle Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., or any druggist anywhere.

And lastly, if they don't put 5 pounds of flesh on you in 20 days, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

Their fail-safe guarantee is sure—very sure—that you get McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—the original and genuine.

ELECTRIC DEVICE FOR LANDING OF DIRIGIBLES

German Invention, Say Zeppelin Experts, Reduces Possibility of Disaster.

By SAMUEL SPEWACK, Berlin Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1925, by the Post and Pulitzer Publishing Company and Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Hugo Eckener and other Zeppelin experts said today that the possibility of such a disaster as befell the Shenandoah would be reduced to the "minimum minimum" and the airship would be made a practical commercial vehicle by an invention by two young Berlin chemists.

This consists of electrical apparatus which permits starting and landing of a dirigible without release of gas. The difficulty of airships has always been with landing. Hitherto it has been found necessary to release the hydrogen or helium for the total weight of the ship has been reduced in flight by consumption of fuel.

The new invention permits heating the gas at the start and cooling it for landing, thus increasing and decreasing its buoyancy. The pilot has the gas completely in his power and can start, land and navigate with more ease. Electrical energy is first taken from a power plant on land; two 1000-horsepower motors are available on board for the heating plant.

Eckener points out that with no loss of gas it is assured the helium supply will be sufficient for a fleet of ships instead of being dissipated in flights of one. Once an airship is filled with gas by the new method there is no necessity for refilling.

When hydrogen is used, the invention not only saves money but insures safety by eliminating release of the inflammable gas.

The inventors, Kurt Peters and Peter Schlubohm, have spent the last five years in the study of gases and their use in airships.

PASTORS TO EDIT TOLERANCE

EDITION IN FIGHT ON K. K. K.

Minneapolis Clergymen to Direct Publication of a Newspaper on Nov. 24.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 29.—Clergymen of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faith today were named on a board of directors who will direct the publication of a "tolerance" edition of the Minneapolis Daily Star Nov. 24. The editing of this paper is one of the steps in a good will move instituted by these clergymen. Mayor George E. Leach and other pastors to undo the mischief caused by Ku Klux Klan hatreds.

The Rev. James Reardon, pastor of the cathedral pro-Catholic; Rabbi C. David Matt, pastor of a Jewish synagogue; the Rev. K. Stark, pastor of a Scandinavian Lutheran church; the Rev. Harry P. Dewey, pastor of a Presbyterian church, and the Rev. Roy L. Smith, pastor of a Methodist church, will make up this unusual editorial board. Every line that goes into the paper that day, from the first page to the comic strips on the last page, will pass under their scrutiny.

Each of the editors will furnish a signed editorial on a subject of his own choosing, but in each instance the pastor-editor will take space to denounce intolerance of other religious faiths.

The Ku Klux Klan is not without its numerous membership here. As a move to counteract its influence there was a good will week, last May 18 to 23, sponsored by these clergymen and other clergymen of practically every faith.

Pastors of different beliefs exchanged pulpits. The week culminated in a great mass meeting where clergymen of all faiths spoke from the same platform.

COLLEGE MEN DISCOUNTED

AS RAILWAY EXECUTIVES

One Official Declares They Are "Liabilities, Not Assets. When They Are Taken On."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—Many railroad officials believe that college men are unpromising candidates for executive positions in transportation companies. Yale University's committee in charge of a nation-wide survey of transportation has found. Tentative findings are made public on the first 10 months of its investigations.

"There is a widespread expression of feeling among railroad officials," the committee reports, "that college men, as a class, are unpromising candidates out of which to make executive heads of transportation companies. College men are said not to be steady pluggers, and overrate their value when given to the company. One railroad president says they are liabilities, not assets when taken on."

"On the part of transportation companies there is little or no demand for men simply because they have a college course, even a college course that purports to give some inkling of the general aspect of transportation. They apparently have little faith in West Point or Annapolis methods in building up the nucleus of future officials, but prefer to take their chances of developing promising material from the ranks."

WRECK MAY BRING ENGINEER AGE LIMIT

Should Aged Employees Run
Trains? Question Asked
After Death of 10
in New Jersey.

Copyright 1925.
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Investigation of the recent Pennsylvania wreck in New Jersey which cost the lives of 10 persons has progressed to the point where it may lead to still further and wider general inquiry by Government or State agencies into the age of engineers employed today in pulling the fastest limited trains of the American railroads.

It is the constant plea of railroads on which disastrous wrecks have occurred that the engineer at fault had "been in the service of the company for 40 or 45 years." And no cause could be assigned for his dereliction.

Recently it was also announced that an engineer of one of the most famous of the Eastern trains had retired at 70 years of age, after pulling this crack train daily since its inauguration many years ago.

The question now is to be put up to the Interstate Commerce Commission to deal with is as to whether the railroads should reduce their retirement age and relieve from active duty engineers who have passed beyond 60 or 65 years. The Government for years has insisted upon the retirement of army officers at 64 and of naval officers at 62, yet it must be admitted that the strain of a life at the throttle of a modern locomotive traveling at 60 and 70 miles an hour, through summer suns or winter nights, is far more exhausting, far more wearing on the nerves, than the normal duties of either a naval or an army officer.

Officers Inactive at 62.

No naval officer at 62, as a matter of fact, is given actual physical work to do, even in peace-time. He would not, for instance, be permitted at that age to pilot a warship along the coast or into a harbor. If the naval officer at 62 has not reached flag rank, where he merely plans and directs, he generally will be found ashore where there is no strenuous work to be performed.

Likewise in the army, at 64, no officer would be found in the trenches or in the first line of assault or defense. He would either be a General at headquarters, or be well down the line of service of supply.

In American railroading, however, the great old age of the locomotive engineer has been a boast rather than an excuse. His kindly face and grizzled locks have been pictured in story, song and advertisement. Train officials who we have been sources on the subject, say that the policy of the railroads in general of keeping a man at the throttle so long as he is physically fit to handle a train has been more than justified by the records for safety which have been made in this country.

U. S. Trains Safest in World.

Considering the number of passengers carried, it is asserted American railroads are among the safest. Not other railroads where travel is so heavy, has such long hauls. It is further pointed out that the hours for an engineer are short. Often the run is not more than four or five hours duration. The law requires that no trainmen be employed more than eight hours a day.

Railroad traditional ways has required that an engineer should rise from the ranks and that is why so few young men may be seen at the throttle of important trains. It is also railroad custom that senior engineers will be given the best assignments and it is the duty of every engineer to pull the "crack" trains which pass over his division. In this way the choice billets in the cab are given to the older men.

Work of Engineer Strenuous.

Yet the work of the engineer calls for the most arduous and nerve-tiring duty in all modern industry or activity. Many men have broken down completely under the strain. Half of the work may be done at night. The fastest trains between New York and Chicago make most of their speed in the dead of the night. They must be hurried along on schedule through the rains, snows, sieves and fogs of winter, with never a moment to lose. And back of each passenger engineer is always his cargo of human souls trusting their all to his unerring judgment and his unfaltering physical skill.

The question for the railroads to determine is at what point the mind and muscles fail to coordinate automatically.

TOO MUCH HOT AIR IN SENATE
Senator Capper Says So in Indoors
By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 20.—Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, of Kansas told the Advertisers' Club here yesterday that he was in sympathy with the movement started by Vice President Dawes for reform of the Senate rules to prohibit unlimited debate.

"There is no doubt that there is too much hot air and wind-jamming in the Senate and I am heartily in favor of the program to shut it off," he said. "A general reform in the conduct of public business in Washington is needed. The Vice President has a big job ahead of him. I am ready to do all in my power to help him and I believe he will succeed for he is on the right track."

POINTS OUT DEFECT IN STATE PRISON BILL

National Committee Chairman Talks on Competition in Sale of Goods on Open Market.

Missouri virtually leaped out of the frying pan into the fire in its bill in 1917 to abolish the contract system of distributing products of convict labor, in the opinion of Julia K. Jaffray, secretary of the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor.

Miss Jaffray was speaking at the club institute of the Eighth District, Missouri Federation of Women's clubs, yesterday afternoon at the Wednesday Club Auditorium. The sessions conclude this afternoon.

"The bill looked good but it had one fault," Miss Jaffray explained. "The products, when the State took disposition of them from the contractors, were to be sold on open market. That is why the law has not helped conditions since then."

"One reason for the failure of such projects for public betterment is that they are asking small-paid State officers to compete with the $25,000 men of big corporations. The great bulk of products of Missouri penitentiary labor consisted of work shirts and the like. These were simply bought up on the market by the people used to hold contracts."

Prison Occupation

"It used to be that if a prisoner had been a carpenter they would make him a carpenter. Then I suppose we'd better put you to washing dishes." That is about as sensible as the whole situation. What occupation the prisoner is fitted for must be considered. Besides its great aid to discipline, the object of prison occupation must be a training which will enable the prisoner to earn an honest living, when he is free to mingle with society."

Miss Jaffray related that in New Jersey the Printers' Union had fostered prison courses in printing, for the last four years had supervised them and had saved time spent in penitentiary printshops as applying for apprenticeship for membership in the union.

"It is your job to see that prisons are properly managed," she continued. "You realize it when a burglar, newly out of prison, enters the house next door. But without further improvement in the penitentiaries you can't expect a prisoner to come out any better for being in. You and the citizens of every state should determine that they shall not be let out if they are unable to earn a living honestly."

"No state, no private individual has any right to profit on convicts' labor. Every cent above cost should be their own and should be available for their wives and children."

"Understand that I hold no brief for savagery. They are people who have committed crime. Prison is the set punishment. But there is no just reason that prison should make them worse."

Other Problems Taken Up.

Problems of industry, narcotic regulation and the preservation of Indian art also were taken up at the afternoon session. Last night Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis, chairman of the International Relations Committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, deplored failure of the United States to face essentials in international understanding between states, said, politicians were allowed to dodge the question by harping on side issues.

Armenia, for example, was only a "tragic symbol" and not a cause of war. Disarmament was of no use in the face of industrial preparedness. "Our bungling over the world court," she remarked, "makes us look pretty shabby, not only in that it may lose us one chance for international peace, but that it shows us failing to practice our own theories."

YOUTH FOUND HIDDEN UNDER AUTO MOTORS SALOON HOLDUP

Says He Came Here From California and Planned to Live in Belleville and Steal Here.

A man and a man was twined about the rear axles of an automobile with his coat tail hanging to the ground when two policemen dashed into the alley behind 494 North Fourth street at 5:30 p. m. yesterday in pursuit of a robber who held up the saloon at 301 North Third street a few minutes before.

After being pulled out, he admitted he was the robber, acknowledged ownership of a revolver found in the alley, surrendered $114 cash taken from the saloon, and described himself as Alfred Palmer, 18, of Pasadena, Cal.

He came here Nov. 18, he said, with a plan to live in a Belleville hotel and commute to St. Louis in order to rob saloons. Tuesday night he held up Bartender Harry J. Fritz, alone in the Third street saloon, he related. Fritz ran out immediately after the robbery and called Patrolmen Pleper and Weingart, who made the capture.

Wilson looked at the prisoner last night, but could not identify him. The two customers will see him today.

JAPAN WOULD BAR SUBMARINE

But Doubts Whether Nations Can Agree on a Feasible Plan.

TOKYO, Nov. 20.—The Cabinet Council today informally discussed the question of the abolition of the submarine and agreed generally that Japan would favor it if the Powers agreed, but felt that it was unlikely the Powers would be unanimous at present.

The press and public are unusually apathetic. The newspapers, Nichi Nichi, Chugai Shogyo and Miyako, commenting with reserve, agree that abolition is desirable in principle, but believe it is not feasible at present, owing to existing world conditions. A foreign office spokesman pointed out that Japan had few submarines compared with other Powers, but the Government would be glad to abolish them if other nations were agreeable.

Prospective Roomer Robs Woman

Mrs. Emma Herdt, 68 years old, manager of a rooming house at 2218 South Third street, was showing a visitor a room yesterday afternoon when the man turned and struck her in the face with his fist, knocking her down. As she fell, he grabbed a purse she carried and ran out. The purse contained some change and a check for $120. The man was about 35 years old. Mrs. Herdt told police.

550 GREET DAVIS
AT DINNER CLOSING
DAY OF TRIBUTESSecretary of War Acclaimed as First Native of St.
Louis to Become Member of Cabinet.MAKES RESPONSE TO WELCOMING TALKSGuest of Honor's Services to City and the Nation Recalled by Fellow Citizens.

Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, was greeted as "the first gentleman citizen of St. Louis," and the first native of this city to become a member of the President's Cabinet, in the dinner which closed the celebration of Davis' day, the Secretary's first homecoming since his appointment, at Hotel Statler.

During the Civil War, with comparatively small forces, more than 7,000 soldiers died of smallpox. During the World War, with 4,000,000 men in the army, we lost 12,000 soldiers from this disease. Twelve per cent of the total force engaged in the Spanish-American War contracted typhoid fever. In the World War the prophylactic measures adopted by our Medical Corps reduced the number afflicted with typhoid to one-twentieth of 1 per cent. I could give you many other striking illustrations of what the Army Medical Corps has done to improve the health of our country.

The limitations of time will not permit me to tell you of all the peace-time accomplishments of the Army. Probably, however, there is one in my audience who is saying: "You have told us a good deal about what the army has done, but that is past history. We want to know what the army is doing today." I will tell you a few of the things it is doing.

Davis cut to a 45-minute talk, without notes, the long address which he had prepared in advance. He touched on most of his points, but substituted anecdotes for some long passages of detail.

When Mayor Miller said that some persons in the East still thought St. Louis needed protection from Indians, and when the Mayor contrasted the service to which Davis had been called in Washington with that to which "Davy" Crockett and other St. Louisans have been called at Lanesborough, the Secretary responded:

"I will try to protect St. Louis from real Indians if the Mayor will protect it from political Indians."

The Secretary coined a definition of the army as "a group of citizens temporarily in the active service of the country." This was in connection with his main theme, the peace-time service of the army, and the efforts made to fit enlisted men for profitable employment in civil life.

F. G. Meyer Presides.

Carl F. G. Meyer, new president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided. Rolla Wells, former Mayor, under whose administration Davis was elected, House of Delegates, and Frederick Kreiselman, who succeeded Wells, and who made Davis Park Commissioner over strong political opposition, were at the speakers' table, as was former Mayor Kiel. Another guest was Col. David Stone of Jefferson Barracks, commandant of the troops which were the feature of yesterday's parade.

The Sixth Infantry band played at the dinner, beginning with selections from "Chocolate Soldier." The patriotic decorations were profuse.

Mentioned Secretary Davis "the first American citizen of St. Louis," and spoke of him as the father of organized athletics in the parks, and the donor of the Davis cup, which has stimulated interest not only in tennis, but in all healthful sports.

Another speaker, Dr. D. C. Todd, in presenting the diamond trophy of the Municipal Athletic Association to Col. Davis, later, declared that as Park Commissioner, Davis appointed more flower beds and put first-base markers in their place.

Davis Responds.

Secretary Davis began by addressing "Mr. Toastmaster, Mr. Mayor, my good mother, and my kind friends of St. Louis." He said the suggestion of a parade in his honor had not pleased him at first, but that he was glad the demonstration had taken place, as the President and State had a right to feel the President Coolidge honored St. Louis and Missouri, as well as Col. Davis personally, by his appointment.

The parade reminded him, he remarked, of a former Chief of Police of St. Louis who had directed the driver of his carriage driving him on Market street, to go down Olive street instead, saying "Who the devil will ever see me on Market street for driving him down Olive street."

Declaring that the public misapprehended the ideals and purposes of army officers, Secretary Davis said:

"I have known many army officers intimately, and I never heard any officer make any remark which could be construed as militaristic in the sense of showing a desire for war. All the preparations which it is our duty to make, we regard as war preparations not for war, but against war."

PEACE-TIME ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE ARMY OUTLINED BY SECRETARY DAVIS IN SPEECHDescribes Varied Activities of Military Branches and Defends General Staff
Against Charges of Bureaucracy.

Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, in beginning his dinner speech at Hotel Statler, paid a tribute to his predecessor, Secretary John W. Weeks. He shortened his prepared address considerably. That which he used, in large part, is:

"In the brief time I have been Secretary of War I have had occasion to be thankful that I was graduated into my new responsibilities from two and a half years' service as Assistant Secretary. In that time I learned that the War Department is performing a multitude of duties that have little or no connection with its respective agencies, and of which I previously had no knowledge whatever. My service in the War Department and my conversations with my fellow citizens have convinced me that too many Americans are in something like the same position.

The General Staff.

"We sometimes hear the General Staff of our army called 'bureaucratic.' Who are these 'bureaucrats'? They are the men who yesterday were leading battered columns to victory in France. The men who advise and direct the military activities of the War Department are the same men as those who command the regiments and the brigades in our scattered army posts from the Philippines to Alaska, and from Maine to Panama. Every year sees changes in the personnel of the General Staff. There are new faces at the old desks; faces of men fresh from duty with troops in the field, whose positions there have been taken by the men they relieve in the War Department. There is no danger that a special caste of staff officers, apart and distinct from the battle units of the army, will be built up in Washington.

"But tonight I want to talk to you, not of war, but of peace, and of the things the army has done and is doing to promote the peace-time progress and prosperity of our country. The United States army has written into the annals of American history a record of devotion and service in the things of peace—the things that go into every-day matters of life to make for all Americans greater opportunities for happiness and progress. Let me call your attention to some of these accomplishments.

Winning of the West.

"Did you know that it was the army which paved the way for most of the pioneering development of this country and made possible the settlement of the great region west of the Mississippi River? The famous Lewis and Clark Expedition which opened up the Northwest was conducted by the army, and its leaders held commissions in the regular army.

"The first railroad in the United States was constructed by the army and it was not until about the time of the Civil War that most of our railroads were built by private corporations. Most of us know that the Panama Canal was constructed under the direction of our army engineers, but did you know that it was the army which built the Baltimore & Ohio and the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads? The original construction of practically every transcontinental railroad in the United States was done by the army.

"In general, may most of our citizens are aware of the fact that the improvement and maintenance of our rivers and harbors are intrusted to the Army Engineer Corps, but did you know that the first canals constructed in this country—the old Chesapeake & Ohio and the Erie canals—were the work of army engineers? Today, as its principal peace-time function, the Engineer Corps is improving and maintaining in a navigable condition more than 200 harbors, nearly 300 rivers and some 50 canals and other waterways. The first lighthouses were erected by the army and today the dredges of the Engineer Corps keep our ship channels open and enable the commerce of the nations to use our harbors. It is the Engineer Corps that keeps the Mississippi River open to commerce.

"Nothing has been done more for its colonies and dependencies than the United States. The Philippines and Porto Rico have progressed under American control far beyond the colonies of the nations of the Old World, although the experience of Europe in colonization antedates ours by hundreds of years. That civilization, education, health and prosperity have triumphed in our possessions is due to the intelligent administration of the affairs of our colonies by army officers. Cuba, once a dependency of the United States, is today a prospering republic. Did you know that its railroads, harbors, roads, schools, military and police systems, and its democratic form of government were developed under the intelligent supervision of our army?"

"I think every boy and girl in our

TREASURY ALTERS
ORDER CANCELING
ALCOHOL PERMITSRuling Now Applies to Denaturing Plants and Warehouses, Not to Alcohol in Manufacturing.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The Treasury has countermanded its sweeping order which revoked all alcohol permits and has substituted for it another regulation cancelling only one class of permits Dec. 31, and allowing the others to continue in effect 12 months longer.

All outstanding permits for industrial alcohol plants, alcohol-bonded warehouses and denaturing plants are to expire at the end of this year under the new ruling, but permits for use of denatured alcohol in manufacture of non-beverage alcohol and other liquors, will be continued until Dec. 31, next year.

In announcing the alteration in the plan of dealing with permits, Assistant Secretary Andrews said it was "physically impossible to put the whole decision into effect completely this year."

"To thus rush the business," he said in a letter of instruction to the prohibition administrators, "would in itself defeat the object, which is that ultimately no one shall hold a Government permit unless, after careful investigation, the Government is satisfied that he is worthy to hold a permit."

Andrews told the administrators his purpose was to see administration of the prohibition law "about 100 per cent successful" in two things: first, the handling of those in the armed forces engaged in the field, whose positions there have been taken by the men they relieve in the War Department. There is no danger that a special caste of staff officers, apart and distinct from the battle units of the army, will be built up in Washington.

"But tonight I want to talk to you, not of war, but of peace, and of the things the army has done and is doing to promote the peace-time progress and prosperity of our country. The United States army has written into the annals of American history a record of devotion and service in the things of peace—the things that go into every-day matters of life to make for all Americans greater opportunities for happiness and progress. Let me call your attention to some of these accomplishments.

Civilian Training Camps.

"In addition to training its own personnel and the National Guard, the regular army trains annually about 35,000 boys in the civilian military camps and some 6,000 or 7,000 students in the reserve officers' training camps. The army is not only training these boys to be soldiers, but to be citizens. Each year the army sends them into civilian life thousands of youths, citizens who have better prepared themselves mentally and physically to undertake the responsibilities of citizenship in this great nation."

The Chemical Warfare Service is carrying on important experiments in the use of gas for the eradication of the boll weevil in cotton. The boll weevil costs the growers of cotton hundreds of millions of dollars annually, and it is hoped that a chemical compound will be developed which will rid our cotton fields of this pest.

"In co-operation with the Navy Department, the Chemical Warfare Service is conducting experiments towards producing a non-fouling paint which will prevent barnacles gathering on the bottoms of ships.

"One of the greatest dangers to miners is the deadly carbon-monoxide gas. Did you know that the Chemical Welfare Service has produced the only chemical compound suitable for the protection of miners from this gas? Tear gas is one of the most effective weapons used today in the protection of banks and other institutions. It is also used extensively by police in the capture of barricaded criminals and in the suppression of serious riots. Another achievement of the Chemical Welfare Service has been the development of methods of using chlorine gas for the treatment of wounds and it is believed that future experiments with many of the so-called poison gases will develop an effective remedy for the more serious respiratory diseases.

Work of Signal Corps.

"Lines of communication form the backbone of civilization. The Signal Corps of the army has a record of public service in this regard that is very definitely woven into the pattern of American achievement. Did you know that since 1909 the Army Signal Corps has maintained in the frozen areas of Alaska a system of wire and radio communication which has provided the sole means of contact with the outside world? Supporting the Alaska interior communications, the Signal Corps has also laid and maintains over 4,500 miles of submarine cable.

"Did you know that the army maintains a radio system which extends from Washington to all the principal cities throughout the nation and handles a tremendous volume of departmental business affecting every activity of our Government?" This system was inaugurated in 1922, and has been constantly expanding, and its operation has effected an enormous saving in the cost of handling Government business.

Funicular Service.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely nominal, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The St. Louis Arsenal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
As a taxpayer I hereby protest
A against further reductions in the activities in the Quartermaster Department of the St. Louis arsenal. Second and Arsenal streets, and the transfer of greater activities in the same line to its greater rival, Chicago, III.

The shipping facilities of our depot, either by rail or river, are unsupervised, and our Government is spending millions of dollars every year on the improvement of river facilities without making any practical use of cheap river transportation to which the St. Louis arsenal is so well situated.

This city is being discriminated against at all times. Chicago is being preferred in every way, activities at St. Louis constantly reduced, civilian employees with honorable records of years of faithful service have been dismissed within the last few years by the hundreds, all of which acted in favor of Chicago.

Fellow taxpayers write and petition your Congressman and Senator to put a stop to this uncalled for discrimination, have new business diverted to the St. Louis arsenal, making use of the shipping facilities, always right at our door, thus helping St. Louis merchants and indirectly our financial institutions.

This should have immediate attention of our Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Exchange also banking interests and as a visit of our new Secretary of War is opportune (a St. Louis man), this matter should be taken up at once and the Hon. Dwight F. Davis informed of the demands of this city and he should be urged to issue orders to stop the discrimination above referred to, and give St. Louis what she is entitled to, in view of favorable shipping facilities above mentioned.

Banquets and after dinner speeches will not accomplish this, but urgent and persistent action is necessary to gain consideration and put St. Louis on the map in the position to which she is entitled.

Front Door Car Entrance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I SHOULD like to ask why we working people have to put with arms, hands and feet in order to get to rear door of the Secretariat of War was a two-fold tribute, first to the St. Louis man who from his young manhood has devoted himself to public service and who has won an enviable distinction in public life through character, capacity and devotion to his work; and next to the high office he holds.

Serious problems confront Mr. Davis in the direction of the War Department. He has had valuable experience in that post as Assistant Secretary and Acting Secretary. His speech indicated a comprehensive view of the functions of the army, the service it renders in war and peace, and the service it can render.

We have reason to look forward with confidence to an efficient administration of the War Department under his guidance. We may expect a sound solution of the problems now presented to him, particularly in the aviation service, which manifestly requires reorganization and improved conditions that make for efficiency.

In his arduous work and weighty responsibility Mr. Davis may feel assured that he has the good will, confidence and support of his own people in St. Louis, and we believe this sentiment is nation-wide.

MR. HOHENZOLLERN AT HOME.

The latest description of William Hohenzollern's life at Doorn discloses an atmosphere of regal splendor, for the ex-Kaiser, despite the fall of the mark, the Dawes plan and the high price of potatoes, is still rich as Croesus. About him are Lords Chamberlain, aids, valets, footmen. He sits down at dinner in a glittering uniform, weighted with shiny decorations. He speaks airily of his family ties with England, of the days he used to ride in Rotten Row, of Margaret Asquith, of the war, of politics. He sips excellent Burgundy. In manner he is vivacious, light-hearted and charming. His beard becomes him and he looks as young as he did 15 years ago. His wife is wonderful. Her daughters are delightful.

Perhaps you don't recognize in this picture the same man who was being pursued just a few years ago by 4,000,000 Frenchmen, to say nothing of untold numbers of Frenchmen, Russians, Senegalese, etc., each of whom was privately convinced that he was the agency appointed by destiny to rid the world of Kaiser Bill. Kaiser Bill—yes, Mr. William Hohenzollern was even spoken of in that disrespectful phrase. When he left Potsdam for Doorn it was thought his dark day had come at last. "The exile of Doorn" sounded rather forlorn, and there was something humble about those wood-chopping yarns. Now it turns out that this exile misery is all the merest applesauce, and the ex-Kaiser is happy as a lark.

We should like to devise some terrible punishment for Mr. Hohenzollern, such as kidnaping his favorite butler or depriving him of his Corona Coronas, but the war is over, peace smiles on the war-torn earth. Let the royal exes make the best of powerless exiles.

Reckless Auto Drivers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
G LAD to see Circuit Judge Landwehr sentenced a reckless automobile who killed a man to two years in the penitentiary. If the Judges continue this punishment we will have fewer automobile fatalities, and when an accident occurs in the future it will be unavoidable. Let this good work go on.

A CAREFUL AUTOMOBILE DRIVER.

A CONVENTION WITH A WALLOP.

St. Louis should be intensely interested in the convention of the Mississippi Valley Association which will be held here Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The whole country should be intensely interested in it.

James E. Smith, president of the association, says this convention will be the most representative gathering of waterway advocates ever assembled. Appraising the circumstances under which the convention meets, Mr. Smith says this is the zero hour for waterway development—the hour for the rivers to go over the top.

This convention is going to petition Congress to do what must be done for river transportation, and do it now. It is going to submit to Congress a plan for completing the river projects which have been approved by the army engineers and which Congress itself has sanctioned. The plan is a bond issue, for which, of course, there is abundant precedent both in public and private enterprise. In his official call Mr. Smith points out that we built the Panama Canal by a bond issue and he recommends the exact methods to be followed in issuing river bonds as were used in the canal bonds. The Post-Dispatch urged this project nearly 20 years ago. He refers also to the familiar facts that the railroads have financed themselves by this procedure as have many other of our strongest business corporations.

So there is nothing experimental in this proposal. There is no adventuring into untried ways and means. We are simply following a beaten and proved path.

Will Congress carry out the convention's recommendation? Mr. Smith thinks it will, provided the recommendation is made with the necessary display of public interest.

Need we require any further evidence of ignorance, incapacity and menacing bad judgment on the part of some of the higher-ups in the navy?

EQUALITY OF DESTRUCTION.

In the examination of Col. Paegelow, Commandant of Scott Field, in the Mitchell court-martial, a queer theory of the navy with regard to parachutes was again brought out and emphasized.

Col. Paegelow was asked whether he thought parachutes should be carried on air craft, including both airplanes and dirigibles. "Absolutely," he replied, with emphasis. "I'd try any man for disobedience to orders if he didn't carry them." Maj. Guillen, acting as Judge Advocate, asked him whether he would apply this rule to rigid airships as well as the nonrigid airships and airplanes. Col. Paegelow replied that it applies to all airships.

"Do you not know," asked Maj. Guillen, "that the navy regulation against parachutes on ships of this kind is based partly on the theory that a falling ship would be likely to fall on top of the man coming down with a parachute?"

What a wonderful theory! Because the ship might fall on a man with a parachute, therefore all the men in rigid dirigibles are to be deprived of parachutes. In short, because he may be killed by the ship he is deprived of all means of safety and is doomed to death. With a parachute, the ship might not fall on him and he might be saved, but without a parachute he is a goner. As Edward Rickenbacker, in his testimony, said, to send men into the air without parachutes is "suicide."

Evidently the naval officers who made this amazing regulation thought it better to put all the men in their airship on an equality of destruction. They didn't want the man upon whom the airship did not fall to have a better chance of surviving than the man upon whom the airship did fall.

Need we require any further evidence of ignorance, incapacity and menacing bad judgment on the part of some of the higher-ups in the navy?

A DEFECTIVE LAW.

Of 864 persons who took the State bar examination this year, 268, or more than 40 per cent, failed. An inquiry by the Post-Dispatch into the causes of this high percentage of failures reveals, not that the examination itself sets an unusually high standard, but that the qualifications of the applicants are very low. In Missouri, nearly anyone over 21 years of age can take the State bar examination. The only preliminary education required is a grammar school course and a fair knowledge of history, literature and civil government, which means nothing. As to actual legal study, an applicant must only make affidavit that he has read 23 textbooks on the subjects covered by the examination.

As a result of these simple requirements, persons who have the merest smattering of the law take the State bar examination. Students who have not completed the regular four-year course in law take the State examination on the chance of passing and thus avoiding the time and effort required to complete the course. Other applicants have little or no formal training. The hope of passing by some hook or crook is revealed by the indefatigability of some applicants who have taken the examination a dozen times, and by one who has failed after 16 examinations.

On authority of a member of the board of law examiners, the State bar examination is passed by nearly all law school graduates, particularly of the better schools, and in some cases those who have failed in the school examinations have been able to solve the State bar examinations. Thus only the barrier of a normally difficult State bar examination prevents the State from being flooded with incompetents.

Some states have set up high standards of educational requirements for state examinations for the bar. Whatever standards may be put into a law, there ought to be an opening for young men of good character and capacity, who by hard study and work have the equipment in knowledge and training, to enter the profession. There should be no way by which half-baked students and incompetents could enter the profession. Apparently, the present Missouri law does not contain the safeguards necessary to assure a high standard of equipment for legal practice.

ENCOURAGING THE HOME-BREWER.

Gen. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, intends to urge Congress to enact a law taxing near beer as an aid to prohibition. The idea is that if a new Federal army of near-beer inspectors can be let loose on the manufacturers they may discover cases in which the half of 1 per cent alcoholic content is exceeded.

This is a new illustration, added to many others in recent times, of the crescendo of legislative folly that follows upon an original stupid act of legislation. The effect of Gen. Andrews' proposal, if enacted, will be merely to increase the number of Federal job holders, now oppressively great, unnecessarily to tax and impede an important industry and increase that vast number of homes in which skill in home-brewing is practiced.

As all unreasonable restraints upon trade beget depression as a necessary factor in survival, so all silly restraints on personal conduct breed hypocrisy according to the energy with which they are enforced.

The prohibition law has transformed us from a self-respecting, self-reliant people into a nation of hypocritical home-brewers, in which, of course, the children are learning the art from the parents.

THE LITTLE FEET OF ANNABELLE.

"Tee Petit Pieds, si Adore!"
The Beloved Vagabond.

The little feet of Annabelle!
Her little, wavering, untried feet.
Oh what in all the world to me
Seems half so dear,
Seems half so sweet?

Where will they go, these tiny feet?
Oh who can dream,
Oh who can tell?
When succor calls be swift to go,
And never on pity's path be slow.
These fair feet of Annabelle.

The rosy toes of Annabelle!
Her kisses burdened feet.

Such stony hills these feet may pass,
Which never yet have pressed the grass.
Such zigzag paths through human hearts,
So little known before she starts.

So deep her insight could not foretell—
Roads to be tried by Annabelle!

Sir: Here is a choice simile from one of our contemporaries:

Perfect bridge hands (thirteen trumps) are as rare as a hole-in-one in golf.

The hole-in-one occurs once every million strokes, according to the best available statistics. The thirteen trumps are found together at bridge ONLY ONCE IN EVERY 15,880,000,000 HANDS! It is possible to overlook bad grammar, such as the quoted sentence boasts, but no self-respecting bridge player will allow the sacred game to be slurred.

Sir: The rugby football match played at Oxford, England, between the Oxford greyhounds and the team from Frankfort, Germany, as reported editorially in Wednesday's Post-Dispatch must have been more unusual than appears on the surface.

A rugby football game between two teams is indeed unusual as the number of men on each side should be 18.

Woman: Oh, I don't want that much money. Man: Did not faint or otherwise register pain or surprise. An excellent poker player, apparently. Woman: A wonder.

SINGER HAILED AS REIGNING COLORATURA

Luella Melius of Wisconsin thrills Chicago Opera-Goers in Role of Gilda.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Luella Melius, a native of Appleton, Wis., was hailed today by Chicago musical critics as an operatic star of the first magnitude.

Mme. Melius, who already has won recognition abroad, made her American debut last night as a guest artist of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, appearing in the role of Gilda in Verdi's Rigoletto, in which she will sing all the sensational success eight years ago.

An ovation greeted her singing of the famous "Caro Nome" aria, and the audience gave her 10 curtain calls at the end of the act.

Glen Dillard Gunn, writing in the Herald and Examiner, said that Mme. Melius duplicated the triumph of Galli-Curci eight years before, and described the singer as the "reigning coloratura of the moment" with exquisite tone and "all the warmth of a lyric voice and all of the coloratura's agility." Edward Moore in the Tribune called Mme. Melius an "astonishing coloratura singer" whose "trill is something to marvel at for its accuracy and quality."

The singer began her career in Chicago. She was first heard here as a student in operatic performances. Years of study in Paris with Jean de Reszke followed. Thereafter came appearances in opera houses in France and Italy. She is under a five-year contract with the Paris Grand Opera Company, and was called to America by the illness and death of her mother, the wife of Dr. W. H. Chilson of Appleton.

CRANES NEAR PALACE AUGUR BIRTH OF JAPANESE HEIR

nesting Birds Are Considered There as Symbolical of Married Happiness.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, Nov. 20.—Two cranes nesting in an ancient pine tree in the Palais Imperial Gardens, adjacent to the palace, have brought joy to the Japanese and the royal household.

The nesting of the cranes, symbolical of married happiness, is traditionally believed to be a most fortunate omen and particularly applicable to the expected birth of an heir to the Prince Regent and Princess Nagako.

When the Prince Regent and the Crown Princess were married and descended into the palace garden, the cranes dove visited the palace when young Prince Sora, the fourth imperial son, was born.

These incidents, with the arrival of the cranes, are looked upon as unusually happy auguries.

MRS. COOLIDGE VISITS MUSEUM

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge went back to Washington today with ideas for furnishing the White House of Art. New York's most exclusive ladies were on the qui vive yesterday, but Mrs. Coolidge went to the Art Museum.

The President took a nap at the Waldorf while his wife was looking over old prints and antique New York furniture in the museum.

Mrs. Coolidge was accompanied to the museum by Mrs. Dwight Morrow and Mrs. Coolidge's Niece.

She commented most on color effects and combinations, but remained longest in the room where early American furniture is exhibited. She also gave attention to draperies, glassware and silver.

At her hotel, three young women from an exclusive dressmaking establishment called and displayed their wares.

ANTERIOR HUNT REVIVED

Americans Besiege Oxford Library for Genealogies.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., Nov. 20.—A Greek theater has been opened in Jacksonville that is described as more perfect in its circular formation and acoustics than many of the open-air theaters built by the ancient Greeks.

Its walls form a perfect circle.

Professors from the Art Institute of Chicago designed it, directed its construction, and also the first performance in it, occasioned by the Jacksonville centennial.

Half a year ago there was a huge round water reservoir where the theater now stands. When 500 actors had been drawn from all walks of life to play in the Centennial Pageant, the necessity for a large playhouse presented itself.

The old reservoir was transformed.

The north side of the bowl was partially knocked out to make place for the entrance and stage.

Circular seating levels were made of concrete, sufficient to seat 500 people.

The stage was made on three levels to accommodate instantaneous changes of scenes without curtains. This is accomplished by turning the light off the stage and shining a bright light in the faces of the audience. The theater is owned by the city. The 50-piece band that plays in it is the Jacksonville Community Band. The musicians get paid whenever there is any money in the treasury, but when there is no money they play anyhow. Their last concert netted them $8 cents each.

MRS. ELIZA HARDY, WIDOW OF LIVERYMAN, DIES AT HOME

She Was Sister of Mrs. Ed. Butler—Husband Long Held City Garbage Contract.

Mrs. Eliza Hardy, widow of James Hardy, widely known liveryman and politician, died yesterday at 5:30 a. m. today, at her home, 5756 Maple avenue, from the infirmities of age. She was 80 years old.

Surviving her are five children.

horsehosing contract. Her husband, who died March 18, 1924, at 85, for many years had the city garbage contract, and conducted one of the largest livery stables in the west. Following her husband's death, Mrs. Hardy removed from their residence at 5862 Maple avenue, where they had lived for 40 years, from the time the site was a farm.

INCOME FROM $1,000,000 FOR SCHOLARSHIPS IN THE ARTS

Carnegie Corporation Also Sets Aside Additional $100,000 for Teaching Equipment.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Gift of the income on $1,000,000 by the Carnegie Corporation for a system of scholarships and fellowships in the arts was announced yesterday in the annual report of President K. P. Keppler. The purpose is to insure a adequate supply of competent teachers in the arts.

Mr. Fuld, was 91 years old. As an abolitionist and staunch Republican, he attended the Chicago convention of 1860 that nominated Lincoln for the presidency. In recent years he had been a constant attendant at Symphony Orchestra concerts, and heard last Sunday's concerts, and $100,000 for teaching equipment of departments of fine arts and universities in various parts of the country. This is apart from the donations of $250,000 to fine arts departments announced last May.

The amount available for scholarships next year will be $45,000. Appointments will be for second year. Reappointments for third year, in rare cases, third years, will be made upon the basis of real accomplishment. The amount of one and years of study are in most instances to be in this country and the third, probably in Europe. Both men and women will be allowed to compete.

The two appropriations announced, said President Keppler, are the result of the Carnegie Corporation's preliminary inquiry into the place of the arts in American life, initiated a year and a half ago.

The $100,000 fund is to be used in a distribution of sets of library equipment, each consisting of a library of approximately 200 volumes.

some 1500 photographic reproductions of architecture, painting and sculpture and a small collection of prints and textiles.

Total grants by the Carnegie Corporation during the year ended Sept. 30, 1925, were $3,121,145, as against $3,206,115.55 for the preceding year.

FUNDAMENTALISTS' VICTORY COOLIDGE MAKES FAIR PLAY PLEDGE TO BUSINESS

By Associated Press
CONWAY, Ark., Nov. 20.—Fundamentalists won a victory in the Arkansas Baptist convention here yesterday and as a result, it was announced that Dr. C. T. Dicken, president of Ouachita College and seven other members of the faculty of the college, and 100 students of faith adopted by the Southern Baptist Convention or resign. The faculty members affected by the ultimatum include Morley Jennings, athletic director.

The American policy toward business, Mr. Coolidge asserted, has been to leave the general structure of business while holding its avenue open to the widest competition so its opportunities and benefits might be given the broadest possible participation.

"While it is true that the Government ought not to be and is not committed to certain methods of acquisition which, while partaking of the nature of unfair practices try to masquerade under the guise of business," he added, "the Government is and ought to be thoroughly committed to every endeavor of production and distribution which is entitled to be designated as true business. Those who are so engaged, instead of regarding the Government as their opponent and enemy, ought to regard it as their vigilant supporter and friend."

for more economical distribution of commodities in congested centers; need for still greater extension of electrification; need for reorganization of Government, and need for further effort against all categories of waste which the Department of Commerce has enumerated and so actively attacked."

Advice as to Loans.

In his discussion of the foreign debt problem the President reaffirmed his conviction that loans should not be made by the United States or by American bankers when the money advanced is used for maintenance of great armaments and navies.

"Loans," he contended, when used in ways that are not productive like the maintenance of great military establishments or to meet municipal expenditures which should either be eliminated by Government economy or supplied by taxation, do not appear to serve a useful purpose and ought to be discouraged."

"Our bankers," he continued, "have a great deal of responsibility in relation to the soundness of these loans when they undertake to invest the savings of our country abroad. I should regret very much to see our possession of resources which are available to meet needs in other countries be the cause of any sentiment of envy or unfriendliness toward us."

Touches on World Court.

Near the end of his prepared address the President touched on the World Court issue with this statement:

"With our already enormous and constantly increasing interests abroad, there are constantly accumulating reasons why we should signify our adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice. Mindful of our determination to avoid all interference in political affairs, which do not concern us, of other nations, I can think of no more reassuring action than the declaration of America that it will whole-heartedly join with others in the support of the tribunal for the administration of international justice which they have created."

"I can conceive of nothing that we could do which involves assuming so few obligations on our part that would be likely to prove of so much value to the world. Beyond its practical effect, which might be somewhat small, it would have a sentimental effect, which would be tremendous. It would be public notice that the enormous influences of our country were to be cast upon this side of the enlightening processes of civilization. It would be the beginning of a new world spirit."

war. We intend to make this country safe against war. You needn't be afraid of militarism from the War Department. Remember this when you hear the army officers attacked, as they will be by selfish interests in the next session of Congress. I know of no group so self-sacrificing, so patriotic and loyal as our regular army officers."

"You hear a great deal of talk about the air service," the speaker said a few minutes later. "I see my friends at the press table waking up and sharpening their pencils. Well, they can go back to sleep again, for that is a subject that I am going to be careful to say very little about. Of course, if you read the papers, you know that we haven't any airplanes that can run with the best. We are doing our best to catch up. You know that our army air service holds far the largest number of world's records in aviation." And he recited a list of achievements headed by the world flight.

TELLS OF FIRESTONE PLAN TO GET RUBBER

Representative of the Manufacturer Addresses Dealers' Meeting—Officers Elected

To free the United States from dependence upon a foreign source of rubber supply, Harvey S. Firestone, president of the Firestone Rubber Co., Akron, O., is laying the foundation for American-owned rubber plantations, according to W. D. Hines, Firestone's personal representative, who spoke at the National Tire Dealers' Association convention yesterday afternoon at Hotel Chase.

The rubber shortage, he said, was caused by the British rubber restriction act that limits production and exportation of rubber from British colonies, and also by the rapid growth of the automobile industry and popularity of the balloon tire.

The United States consumes 75 per cent of the world's rubber production, Hines pointed out, while England controls 80 per cent of the supply. Because there will be available at the end of this year only 125,000 tons, about half of the amount that should be on hand, it is imperative, Hines declared, that American rubber manufacturers begin production themselves. Firestone, he added, has investigated sites for plantations in Liberia, the Philippines, Mexico and Central America.

Tire Dealer Defined.

A tire dealer was defined by the delegates as "an individual, firm or corporation whose activities are principally directed toward the sale of new tires and tubes, who buys tires for the purpose of resale at a reasonable profit, who carries in an established place of new tires and tubes and has adequate facilities for service, and who has sufficient moral and financial standing to enable him properly to conduct his business."

The delegates went on record as opposing the entrance of tire manufacturers into the retail field in direct competition with established agents, and to their selling direct to the consumer either as national or commercial accounts. They also condemned the practice of dealers and manufacturers in rebating 10 per cent on sales made by them to select customers, and the practice of manufacturers in selling to cooperative buying organizations that resell the merchandise to their members. The printing of suggested consumer price lists by manufacturers was frowned upon.

H. A. Ruhke, President.

Herbert A. Ruhke of Milwaukee was elected president of the association to succeed George J. Burger of New York, who will be secretary-treasurer. Other officers and directors elected yesterday afternoon were: Vice president, H. V. Eva; Duluth; director for one year—S. B. Harper, Fort Smith, Ark.; directors for two years—Victor Shaw, Charlotte, N. C., and A. M. O'Leary, Chicago; directors for three years—A. L. Glick, Pittsburgh, and A. P. Wehrle, St. Louis. Wehrle is president of the Associated Tire Dealers of St. Louis.

The convention closed last night with a dinner at which Robert E. Lee, manager of the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association, was the principal speaker.

The 1926 convention will be held next November at Memphis, Tenn.

CAFETERIA FOR PATIENTS

AT THE CITY SANITARIUM

New Dining Hall, to Cost $238,000. Also Will Serve as an Auditorium.

The cafeteria plan, serve yourself and make your own selection of food, is to be introduced in the patients' dining hall of the City Sanitarium, when the new hall, to serve also as an auditorium, is built, under an appropriation bill now in the hands of the Citizens' Bond Issue Supervisory Committee. The cafeteria plan has not been tried hitherto in any of the city institutions.

As planned by the Board of Public Service, the new dining hall is to cost $238,000. The bill appropriating this sum, and another appropriating $440,000 for an employee dormitory and recreation building, were referred yesterday by the Citizens' Committee to its Public Welfare Subcommittee.

The employees' building will have separate dormitory halls for men and women, each housing 150 persons. The building will have a large entertainment hall and dance floor, and in the basement a gymnasium, billiard and poolroom.

The Citizens' Committee yesterday approved a proposed ordinance appropriating $1,265,000 for the construction of section C of the River des Peres sewer, extending from Knox avenue to a point 1200 feet east of Mackindie avenue, out of $11,900,000 authorized by the bond issue for conversion of the River des Peres into a public sewer and flood channel. Section A, extending from Leamington road to Southwest avenue, is nearing completion. An ordinance has been passed authorizing the letting of a contract for section B, from Southwest to Knox avenue.

WANTS CAVALRY OFFICERS PUT ON MOUNTED STATUS ALWAYS

Gen. Craig Notes Desk Work Doesn't Agree With Them and Would Care for Their Horses.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Desk work doesn't agree with cavalry officers. During inspection of the last fiscal year, Major-General Main, chief of cavalry, was greatly impressed by the evident physical condition of cavalry officers on duty with troops. In his annual report, published today, he said he saw signs of mental alertness in officers of all grades which contrasted greatly with my daily impression of the lower physical condition of officers on duty which necessitated a sedentary existence."

Gen. Craig said he believed "this is of great importance in its application to cavalry officers ordered on detached service that I recommend that they be considered as on a mounted status at all times and that provision be made for the transportation and care of their private mounts when so detached."

A decided improvement in the cavalry during the year through replacement of many unseemly horses "by an excellent grade of remounts" was noted in the report.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 20.—Giving testimony before the Board of Trade Committee inquiring into an application from the brush industry for a protective duty on imported hairbrushes, manufacturers said that hair-bobbing had affected the hairbrush trade to an enormous extent and said that cheaply produced brushes should be kept out of the country, so as to give the home-made article a chance.

FASCIST ULTIMATUM TO INDEPENDENT PAPER

Order to Milan Publication
Probably Means Its Suspension or Transfer.

ROME, Nov. 19, via Paris (Uncensored).—The Corriere Della Seta of Milan, which is considered by many the best newspaper on the continent of Europe, is doomed as an independent organ following the announcement by Secretary Farinacci of the Fascist party that the Crespi brothers, Milan industrialists, who are majority stockholders in the newspaper, "must choose whether they are Fascist or anti-Fascist."

Since under the new laws the Government can suppress or confiscate property of anti-National Associations there is little doubt that the Crespis must yield, either suspending publication or transferring the paper to Fascist directors. This would mark the end of the non-governmental press in Italy.

The present director, Senator Albertini, has a contract with the stockholders until 1930, but Farinacci says his opposition to the Fascist (whom, however, he supported until they claimed the right to install their own revolutionary government in Italy) justifies cancellation of the contract.

It also is reported that Albertini threatened that the Corriere, if suppressed, would be published in Switzerland and become the center of anti-Fascist propaganda abroad.

The Corriere has spent a great deal of money to obtain quick and reliable news from all parts of the world. It was not a money-maker, but its allied publications prospered. Its new director, if the Fascists gain control, will be Senator Cavigliano, leader of the National party, now a Fascist. In an interview with this correspondent once expressed his belief in the inevitability and wholesomeness of war.

AUTO CRASH UNAVOIDABLE, IS SCHMOELLER INQUEST VERDICT

Liquor Possession Warrant Issued
Against Companion, Hugh Sullivan, Dropped.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 20.—The automobile accident, in which Arthur W. Schmoeller of St. Louis was killed and Hugh Sullivan of the same city was injured the night of Nov. 6, was unavoidable, a Coroner's jury has reported. A liquor possession warrant issued against Sullivan after the accident has been dropped, it was announced today by State's Attorney Cline of Champaign County, where the accident occurred, because the evidence is insufficient to warrant prosecution.

The young men were driving to Urbana to witness the Chicago-Illinois football game when the machine, driven by Sullivan, struck a freight train on the main line at Tolono, 16 miles south of here. The accident occurred at 9 p.m.

They were to have been guests of friends at a fraternity house for the celebrations after the game and they had a bottle of liquor in the car. Witnesses at the inquest testified there was no odor of liquor on the breaths of either Sullivan or Schmoeller, and hospital attendants declared neither had been drinking.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury exonerated Sullivan, who was driving the automobile, and the Wabash Railroad. The accident was unavoidable, Coroner W. J. Strode said. It occurred when the automobile, rounding a curve, came suddenly upon a railroad crossing. A freight train was crossing the highway at 10 p.m. in the darkness the automobile struck a freight car. It was first reported that the machine had been struck by the train. It was pointed out that there were no lights on the freight cars, and that an automobile, traveling even at a moderate rate of speed, could hardly avoid a collision.

COAL WEIGHER DISCHARGED ON APPEAL FROM FINE

Court Rules There Was No Showing
George Donnewald Intended to Give Short Weight.
George Donnewald, weighed by the Stephen Coal Co., 162 Clark Avenue, was discharged by Provisional Judge Phillips in Court of Criminal Correction yesterday on a charge of giving short weight. Donnewald had been fined $50 and costs by Police Judge Rosen on Nov. 7, and appealed the case. Lack of evidence pointing to any intent to short weigh was given as the reason for discharging the case.

Donnewald was arrested on Oct. 31 last when deputy inspectors from the Department of Weights and Measures said a load of coal weighed out by him was $10 pounds short.

EDITORS FOUND GUILTY OF LIBEL

TORRINGTON, Wyo., Nov. 20.—The publisher and managing editor, respectively, of the Casper Herald at Casper, Wyo., were found guilty of criminal libel by a jury in District Court last night and fined $250 each.

They were charged with editorially libeling the members of a jury, which in 1923 acquitted Edward J. Cantlin, a Deputy Sheriff, of the murder of Mrs. Nellie N. Newcomb. Cantlin was accused of shooting the woman for her failure to dim her automobile lights. The editorial published in the Herald charged that the Ku Klux Klan influenced the jury in returning the verdict, according to the contention of the prosecution.

AUTO CRASH UNAVOIDABLE, IS SCHMOELLER INQUEST VERDICT

Liquor Possession Warrant Issued

Against Companion, Hugh Sullivan, Dropped.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 20.—

The automobile accident, in which Arthur W. Schmoeller of St. Louis was killed and Hugh Sullivan of the same city was injured the night of Nov. 6, was unavoidable, a Coroner's jury has reported. A liquor possession warrant issued against Sullivan after the accident has been dropped, it was announced today by State's Attorney Cline of Champaign County, where the accident occurred, because the evidence is insufficient to warrant prosecution.

The young men were driving to Urbana to witness the Chicago-Illinois football game when the machine, driven by Sullivan, struck a freight train on the main line at Tolono, 16 miles south of here. The accident occurred at 9 p.m.

They were to have been guests of friends at a fraternity house for the celebrations after the game and they had a bottle of liquor in the car. Witnesses at the inquest testified there was no odor of liquor on the breaths of either Sullivan or Schmoeller, and hospital attendants declared neither had been drinking.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury exonerated Sullivan, who was driving the automobile, and the Wabash Railroad. The accident was unavoidable, Coroner W. J. Strode said. It occurred when the automobile, rounding a curve, came suddenly upon a railroad crossing. A freight train was crossing the highway at 10 p.m. in the darkness the automobile struck a freight car. It was first reported that the machine had been struck by the train. It was pointed out that there were no lights on the freight cars, and that an automobile, traveling even at a moderate rate of speed, could hardly avoid a collision.

Court Rules There Was No Showing

George Donnewald Intended to Give Short Weight.

George Donnewald, weighed by the Stephen Coal Co., 162 Clark Avenue, was discharged by Provisional Judge Phillips in Court of Criminal Correction yesterday on a charge of giving short weight. Donnewald had been fined $50 and costs by Police Judge Rosen on Nov. 7, and appealed the case. Lack of evidence pointing to any intent to short weigh was given as the reason for discharging the case.

Donnewald was arrested on Oct. 31 last when deputy inspectors from the Department of Weights and Measures said a load of coal weighed out by him was $10 pounds short.

PIE MACHINES HIGHER AS LOSSES WENT UP

Former Auditor Says Food Vending Device Had No Chance to Make Profit.

If "Sunny Jim" pie and sandwich vending machines had never been rifled, if they had not had to digest 80 pounds of slugs in the eight months they were operated in St. Louis, if the topheavy overhead had been reduced to a minimum and the drivers who filled the machines and collected receipts had been carefully checked up against "knocking down," would the defunct Automat Sales Co. have operated at a profit? "If the company had received a dime for every package put in every machine every day, the company still would have lost money," replied Walter L. Prack of Webster Groves, former auditor of the bankrupt, at the first hearing yesterday before Referee Coles. "I wrote Hool to that effect."

Description of Hool.
Prack had agreed to Referee Coles' description of James A. Hool as "something better than an officer," and said that he "bossed" officers of the service company and also seemed to direct the Automat Sales Co. That concern is a bankrupt, too, with liabilities estimated by the receiver at $300,000, and assets consisting principally of a $91,955 claim against its fellow-bankrupt, Hool, with James A. Readey, secretary-treasurer, was a plaintiff in the petition against the service company, therein describing himself as sales manager.

"Hool knew it was impossible for the machine to make a profit and still continued to sell the machines to the public," asked the Referee. "Yes."

"And the worse the business became, the higher the price of the machine for the unfortunate buyer?" Prack agreed that was so.

He had said the price began at $125 a machine and increased to $200 before the failure last month.

Cited Other Cities.

An attorney for one of the bankrupts asked with some heat if Prack did not know that similar machines, with perhaps a little better, had sold 5000 machines in St. good profit in Chicago, Detroit and New York. Prack did not. "The cost of food products was more than they took in here," he explained simply.

Scientific, psychological, punching, mass-mailing, backed by a pamphlet, "Training the Public Into Dollars," had sold 5000 machines in St. Louis—of which about half were not delivered—but it was just this that killed the goose that laid the golden egg, it appeared from Prack's testimony.

He said that his first study of the accounts disclosed that some of the machines, due to poor location, sold only two or three sandwiches or two or three pies a day, at the expense of the 12 or 13 others. Referee Coles asked if there was anything in the lease to prevent shifting the machines to a better location. "No," Prack answered, "but the service company had too many machines to place. They were coming in at the rate of 200 or 300 a week." So, he indicated, the old ones were placed and the old ones were left when they were, loss or no loss.

Sales Organization Moved.

When the situation in St. Louis became uncomfortable, the sales organization moved to "new and fairer fields" in Detroit. The service concern, Prack said, was losing $600 or $700 a day. The sales concern's claim against the service company was for weekly advances, paid by check of "James A. Hool, vice president," to cover budgets prepared by Prack, minus credit of $22,000 to the service concern on 1100 machines which had been placed.

The advances had stopped two weeks before the failure. "Hool was here the first week," Prack related. "I asked him about the budget, and he said he would mail a check. It did not come. Later I wired to him, but it did not come the eighth."

"Hool and Readey were gone when the crash came," Referee Coles inquired. They were, Prack answered, and he added that he did not know where they were.

FREE BRIDGE IMPROVEMENTS TO AWAIT PROPOSED EXCHANGE

Director Wall Replies to Suggestion That Trolley Wires and Rails Be Removed.

Until the question of the exchange of the municipal free and Eads bridges is definitely settled, no action will be taken on a recommendation of Charles S. Butts, an engineer of the Department of Public Utilities, that the trolley rails and wires be removed from the free bridge and asphalt paving replace the present wood block paving on the bridge.

This statement was made today by Director of Public Utilities Wall, chairman of the Municipal Bridge Commission, to whom Butts' letter was addressed. Director Wall also stated that there are no funds available for this work during the present fiscal year, which ends April 1, 1926, even if action on the recommendation were contemplated.

It has been stated, a proposal to exchange the vehicular deck of Eads bridge for the railroad deck of the free bridge is under consideration.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN

To be effective, bran fiber must go through the various digestive processes to be absorbed. It passes through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed. What happens when a bran food is eaten? After the saliva is acted upon it, it passes through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed. In ALL-BRAN the quantity of fiber is so great a part bran food, the quantity of fiber is so great that there is only a tiny amount to be absorbed. ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Demand it.

the energy to fight when his prospect said

That "something" was constipation, the world's most universal disease. What a shame so many people suffer from constipation when there is really such an easy, pleasant, sure way to bring permanent relief—the regular use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—two tablespoonsfuls

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food. As it travels through the system its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it sweeps the intestine clean and drives out the vicious poisons of constipation. ALL-BRAN also absorbs and carries moistures through the intestinal tract, stimulating it to healthy, normal action. ALL-BRAN works as nature works. You need never increase the amount

HAYTIAN SHIP, THOUGHT TO HAVE SUNK, IS FOUND

Several Survivors of Crew of 200 Picked Up—Vessel Had Been Wrecked
in Storm.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—A wireless message picked up today by the Navy said the Haitian steamer Ville Des Cayes, believed to have gone down with the loss of 200 lives, had been picked up by the tanker Brazos in Cuban waters.
The ship was wrecked.

It was not indicated whether anyone was aboard the vessel, which was taken in tow 18 miles east of Pilon Harbor.

The Ville Des Cayes left Aux
Cayes last Saturday for Santiago loaded with laborers for the sugar fields, and several of her crew have been picked up. The Brazos message gave no details as to the condition of the wreck.

Ten planes from the American Naval Base at Guantanamo and several destroyers have been searching the Caribbean between Cuba and Hayti for survivors.

MAN CREMATED IN CHICAGO

WAS E. ST. LOUIS' FATHER

William Boddy Identified; Effects, Wrongly Said to Be Those of Kentucky Man

The mystery surrounding the cremation of a man in Chicago came two weeks ago as that of James A. Boyce of Denver, was solved yesterday when William Boddy, business manager of the East St. Louis Plumbers' Union, recognized the clothes and other belongings of the cremated man as those of his father, William Boddy.
Boddy ended his life on Oct. 24 by shooting himself through the head. Through confusion of the belongings of the two men, Miss Myrna Boyce, dean of women at Pennsylvania College, Lexington, Ky., identified the body as that of her father. James A. Boyce, who formerly was president of Defiance College, in Ohio. Boddy, however, wrote relatives from Denver that he was alive and well.

Boddy was informed of the suicide
by a brother in Washington, D. C., and went to Chicago several days ago. He brought photographs with him, which were compared with a photo of the body before cremation made by the Chicago
Coroner.

The elder Boddy, who was 71 years old, was a former auditor of the Missouri Pacific Railroad in East St. Louis. He had been despondent since the death of his wife two years ago, and worried for fear his body would not be cremated in accordance with his wishes. He went to Chicago and, after making arrangements with an under-taker for his cremation, killed himself.

CUBAN LAW MAKES HIRING OF WOMEN COMPULSORY

50 Per Cent of Workers in Certain Firms Must Be Women Under Measure Just Approved.

HAVANA, Nov. 20.—The women of Cuba are to have equal opportunity with men to obtain employment. In fact, the new female employment law, passed by Congress in 1922 and just signed by President Machado, makes their employment mandatory in many kinds of business.

The law provides that 50 per cent of the employees of establishments selling sports articles, notions, fancy goods, souvenirs, perfumery, books and stationery, candy, drugs and art objects must be women. Theaters and business houses employing telephone operators, stenographers, record file keepers, cashiers and package wrappers also come under the provisions of the law.

Stores selling only women's articles must have a full force of female clerks. No male foreigner arriving in Cuba as an immigrant since 1922 is to be given employment in establishments affected by the law.

The law provides that

COST OF TURKEYS
FOR THANKSGIVING
ABOVE LAST YEAR'S

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Uncle Sam's Thanksgiving dinner bill this year will see him back some, around $14,000,000, an advance of approximately $22,000,000 over 1934.

Reason for the increased cost of the dinner lies in the higher price of turkey. Last November the average price was 42 cents per pound; this year it stands at 48 cents, and may go as high as 52 cents, poultry men say.

Principal item in the country's Thanksgiving dinner food bill will appear something like this: Potatoes, sweet and Irish, $12,820,000; milk, $7,260,000, or 12 evaporated milk, which is merely fresh cow's milk sterilized in the can and of double the richness of ordinary market milk, is used, $6,380,000; butter, $6,960,000;ysters, $7,700,000; cranberries, $5,660,000, and pumpkins for pie, $3,860,000.

Average cost per family for the dinner will amount to from $8.75 to $7. Thanksgiving dinner last year cost approximately $6 per family.

$250,000 SHORTAGE IN TEXAS FEDERAL ROAD FUND CHARGED

State Suks Highway Concern—Contracts Said to Have Been Let Without Bidding.

By the Associated Press
AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 20.—Texas' three-cornered highway embroil again took the stage in District Court here today, with the tension heightened by an unexpected angle, involving an alleged discrepancy of $250,000 in Federal aid highway funds. This was brought out yesterday in the Attorney General's contract annulment and restitution suit against the American Road Co.

The State Highway Commission, "third corner" in the case, and loser, with Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, in an intervention attempt, seeking dismissal of the suit, was in the limelight again yesterday when testimony of a witness held the commissioners accountable for an apparent shortage of Federal aid funds in their care. C. A. Schutte, Federal aid clerk, declared in response to questioning of Attorney General Dan Moody, that Federal funds were used and expended in the trial did not check with the amount on hand.

Last night, however, Chairman Frank Lanham defended the commission with an explanation designed to show that the Federal aid system of funding is subject to fluctuations. The trial started Monday, when the Attorney-General attempted to secure the annulment of outstanding contracts let by the Highway Commission to the American Road Co., charging fabulous profits and illegal collusions. Moody's petition charged that contracts were let to the federal agency without competitive bidding. The State rested its case yesterday.

Former Gov. James E. Ferguson, at the outset of the highway controversy, was openly charged with dominating the Highway Commission.

POLICE FIND PLANT TAKING ALCOHOL FROM HAIR TONIC

Discovery Is Made After an Explosion Caused by a Big Still in Garage.

Equipment for removing alcohol from hair tonic was found yesterday by police after an explosion in a garage in the rear of 1418A Arlington avenue. The explosion, believed to have been caused by an overheated still of 100-gallon capacity, was followed by fire, which was extinguished with small damage.

Twenty-five gallons of hair tonic, said to contain 25 per cent alcohol, and several five-gallon cans containing a liquid believed by police to be alcohol removed from the tonic, also were found.

The garage was deserted when police arrived. They later questioned the owner, who told them he rented it about a month ago to an Italian. The owner denied knowing the still was being operated there.

The police run squad, under Detective-Sergeant Crowley, raided a restaurant at 510 North Seventh street after a search warrant obtained after a probationary patrolman reported he had seen whisky sold in the place. In a gangway in the rear of the saloon the raiders say they found 45 pints of moonshine whisky. They arrested Joseph Paneschi, as the proprietor.

BANK AWARDED JUDGMENT

ON EMIL FRICKER'S NOTE

Action Taken Against Mother and Wife of Man Under Sentence of Death.

Emil Fricker, under life sentence for the murder of one man, and awaiting action by the Supreme Court of Illinois as to whether he shall be executed as decreed, by jury verdict for the killing of another, yesterday was a party to a civil suit in the Circuit Court at Edwardsville.

Because of a bankruptcy action in the Federal Court, which takes precedence, the State court dismissed as to him, but a judgment for $5162.75 was entered against his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fricker, and his wife, Mrs. Rose Fricker. It is understood the money was used to develop a farm which Fricker later lost through expenses of defending himself in the two murder trials. The mother, who is 80 years old, and the wife, signed the note as surely.

GROUND DESIGNATED AS GAME PRESERVE TO SAVE PHEASANTS

Birds Liberated Last Year Prey of Hunters in Violation of the Law.

The Illinois game conservation department at Springfield has designated the grounds of the Equitable Powder Co. and the Alton State hospital as a state game preserve, to end wanton shooting by hunters of 70 Hungarian pheasants which were liberated on the grounds of the powder company about a year ago. Fifty of the birds were furnished by the Equitable and 20 were supplied by the State.

During the last year 30 or 40 of the pheasants have been shot in violation of the law which provides a heavy penalty for killing them.

The purpose of liberating the pheasants was to help in the preservation of game birds.

NEW WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

St. Charles County Organization Plans Campaign for Funds. A new St. Charles County Anti-Tuberculosis Society was organized yesterday afternoon. W. F. Knox, superintendent of St. Charles School, was elected president; Prof.

Guy Motley of Lindenwood College, vice president; Miss Bertha Sandfort, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary, and Edward Huncker, president of the St. Charles Savings Bank, treasurer.

Miss Charlotte Baxmeyer, in charge of anti-tuberculosis campaigns in St. Louis County, was in St. Charles yesterday and assisted in the organization. A solicitation for funds through the mails will be made.

Despondent Man Slashes Wrist. George Stephenson, 22 years old, slashed his left wrist with a razor at his home, 2909 St. Ferdinand avenue, yesterday. Stephenson had recently been despondent, but gave no reason for his action, according to his mother. He was taken to city hospital and placed under observation.

REINDEER MEAT PROVES POPULAR ON WEST COAST

2300 Carcasses Shipped From Alaska for Sale and Supply May Not Last Through Winter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SEATTLE, Wash.—One hundred reindeer were shipped from Norway to Alaska, via Bering Straits, by the Government in 1897. In October 125 reindeer were sold as meat in Seattle by the proprietor of a deer stall at the public market here.

At first people bought small steaks from reindeer "just have a taste." The meat was fried in beetle fashion, often over coals and not much on looks. However, some gave the reindeer steaks a real test, liked the juicy, rich flavor and told others. Then the satisfied ones attempted reindeer bouilli, soup stock and cuts broiled. They live in the tourist parks as long as possible doing enough odd jobs in certain communities to exist, then on game.

Northwest towns are beginning to protect themselves against the tramp class, just as they once organized to combat the sore-footed hobo of olden times.

In all 2300 reindeer carcasses were shipped from Alaska during the past summer. The meat was distributed along the Pacific coast, in Minnesota and the Atlantic coast cities. There is, however, no exact picture of the north country, 749,000 head of deer and by the end of April that number will be increased by nearly 200,000 calves. To supply the increased demand for the meat it is possible a regular line of refrigerator ships may operate between Puget Sound and Nome to connect with intercoastal vessels bound for the Atlantic coast.

AUTOMOBILE TRAMPS REPLACE HOBOES OF ANOTHER DAY

Northwestern Towns Find New Class of Travelers More Dangerous Riders.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OLYMPIA, Wash.—The hobo as an individual crossing the country on freight trains is a lost race, but the hobo as a family traversing the land in a decrepit automobile is just entering upon its era, according to Nels Anderson, head of sociology at the University of Washington.

As author of a technical book "The Hobo," and a student of hobos, their vocation and an adventure, Anderson speaks with some authority.

Converted by the cheap used car and good roads, the automobile tramps are more of a menace than the hobos of the last decade, declare officials of Northwest towns.

Many of the former hobos used to be family deserters; now they take the family along. They are a parasite class finding it cheaper to pile their few necessities into an old car and follow the paved highways, from town to town.

LOCATION OF GOLD CLAIM SPOILED FUN OF HUNTING

"Thrill Is in the Search," Says Man Who Started Off Rich Canadian Deposit.

SEATTLE, Wash.—William Grady, who started the gold stampede to the Cassiar district of British Columbia last spring and who has arrived in Seattle with a poke containing $10,000 worth of gold, the result of two months' work on his claim, is like the little boy who broke his drum to see what made the noise. The location of a paying claim spoiled all his fun.

Grady. "Mining itself is no fun.

It is good, hard work. It's the feverish pursuit of something alluring, always ahead beckoning you, which makes gold hunting worth while."

Preferring adventure and excitement to mere wealth, Grady is thinking seriously of disposing of his interests in Gold Pan Creek next spring so he can have the fun of locating more gold. "I know there is plenty on my claim to make me rich for life," he says. "But finding it has taken away the zest of adventure."

Cats Offered at Rummage Sale.

MARION, O.—Are cats rum-age? Members of Circle 4, Epworth Aid Society, stoutly maintained today they are. Three furry members of the feline family are for barter at the Circle's rummage sale. Maybe the ladies arrived at their decision by agreeing with Webster. That gentleman and several defined rummage as "rubish, litter or confused mass. Therefore cats are rummage."

KAISER'S WHIRLWIND FINISH GAINS HIM DRAW WITH MORRIS KING

Peewee Hammers Foe All Over Ring, After Being Outpointed in 7 Rounds

Crowd of 4000 Cheers Clean Fighting by Kaiser — King, After First Two Rounds, Takes the Lead, Twice Staggering His Older Opponent.

By John E. Wray,
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Persons in the vicinity of Washington and Jefferson avenues at 10:30 o'clock last night must have been startled by a roaring, rumbling sound emanating from the Coliseum. For the benefit of the curious, it may be said that nothing collapsed. The uproar was only the noise made by 4000 fight fans proclaiming that Peewee Kaiser had "come back."

At that time Peewee's opponent, Morris King, evident appearance of backing up the crowd's cheer. Seated in his chair, after the tenth round, King's left ear, cut by a right-hand smash from Kaiser's glove, was being hastily treated by his seconds. Jackie Callahan, King's adviser, was carrying him off with almost maternal tenderness, while King was panting heavily from exhausting efforts to evade disaster.

Kaiser, hair still combed and parted, was standing in the ring center bowing and smiling his appreciation of the crowd's satisfaction. It was a big moment for Peewee, who was getting his "ace." And the answer was right well. In the opinion of the crowd Kaiser had beaten King and won the bantamweight championship of St. Louis.

Peewee, criticized for holding tactics in his recent fights here, and once penalized by the Boxing Commission for his poor efforts, had promised faithfully to fight without holding and to step at his best pace all the way.

Peewee Puts Up Clean Bout.

He did. From the first to the close of the 10 rounds, Kaiser fought cleanly and in the face of some offending by King. Fouled three times during the bout, he held to his promise, and complained only once. He accepted the "pound of the city" however, King clashed dangled in and out, that had excited fans rending the rafters with approving cheers.

In their desire to acclaim Kaiser, the crowd forgot King. Whatever fans may have thought about the matter, in the opinion of ring-side regulars King was entitled to some of the cheering. Instead of being beaten by Kaiser, some

Crowd Boos Third Round, but Cheers When King Staggers Foe in Fourth

In the third round the crowd became restless and it appeared a bad fight. Both missed and missed and missed. Then they danced and Charletoned and danced. Then the crowd began to boo.

But in the fourth matters changed. King, the cause, had a good right to the crowd and followed it up when Peewee faltered under the shock. King landed at least half a dozen solid blows before the bell, with Kaiser going backward, his defense wakening.

King confidently went after Kaiser in the fifth, having all the advantage.

In the sixth King had the edge with both men boxing hard and shiffling. In the seventh King again staggered Peewee after leading him on points early in the round.

Peewee seemed content to let King keep the lead. In the eighth and ninth and it looked like he had shot his bolt. In the ninth, Peewee started to claim foul, but the crowd began boozing and he returned to fighting.

The fight wheeled into the tenth round with King having a clear point lead. Apparently Kaiser had found his superior.

To the surprise of everyone Peewee, after shaking hands, tore into King with a fury, surprising him with his fierce snarl. Early in the round a right caught King on the cheek bone drawing blood and dazing him. Kaiser was on top of his opponent, ripping him heavily to the ground and driving him about the ring, but unable thought King should have had the verdict. The conservative gave King a draw. In the opinion of the writer the last was the fair verdict to render.

Kaiser had the first two rounds and then relinquished the lead to King, who outpointed his foe steadily up to the tenth round, which Kaiser won decisively. It is conceding Peewee something to make his three rounds tie with King's seven.

Peewee Boxes At of Old.

Peewee started like the Kaiser of old, boxing beautifully, blocking nicely and shooting that deadly right hand which once made him the "pound of the city." However, King clashed dangled in and out, that had excited fans rending the rafters with approving cheers.

In the second King landed a hard left hand below the belt, but Peewee just kept on smiling. Again in this round the nervous King hit low, striking Kaiser on the right thigh. Peewee ignored it and continued rolling up points.

Coach Lewis of Yeatman is aware of the fact that Soldan has a strong line, for the North Side coach has been polishing the forward passing attack of his charges.

Roosevelt, with three weeks of rest will offer far more resistance against Cleveland, than it would have on Nov. 7, when the game was originally scheduled. It is expected Capt. Frank Wilmeth, Robert Jarrett, George Gans, backfield men and "Red" Hill, Whitman and like mess linemen, will start the game.

Cleveland will go into the game in an endeavor to redeem the poor showing made in the championship game against Soldan. Joe Hahn, a tackle, may not start the game. Wurhile will probably take his place.

The development of Hasser, Soldan fullback, has caused considerable comment. At the beginning of the season Hasser was one of three fighting for the job. Last week he scored all of Soldan's touchdowns against Cleveland.

St. Louis Seeking Valley Speedboat
Regatta for 1926

Mississippi Valley Power Boat
Association to Consider Proposal Monday.

The annual regatta of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association, probably the most important event of the kind held in the country outside the internationals, Harmersworth trophy races, may be added to the sport program of St. Louis for next year.

The plan to bring the regatta to this city will be considered at the annual meeting of the W. V. P. B. A. which will be held next Monday and Tuesday at the Statler Hotel.

E. G. Keenig, who promised the 100-mile motor boat race, which attracted an estimated attendance of 100,000 a few months ago, is bringing the proposition before the association, and already reports favorable replies from officials of the organization.

Officials Are Favorably Inclined.
President R. H. Daniels and Secretary Griffith both express favorable views in answer to a letter from Keenig inquiring if there was a chance of bringing the event to this city. They replied that about $6000 would float the project.

Keenig, who has been a speedboat enthusiast for 20 years and formerly owned several racing craft, says that if the award to St. Louis is made next week he will go into the project with the expectation of turning over to the Community Fund or some other public beneficiary the net proceeds of the event.

This event I fully anticipate will bring out an attendance that will beat the record of 100,000 now held by Detroit. That sounds extravagant until you learn more," Mr. Keenig told a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"There are 50 clubs in this organization and the annual regatta has become a sort of pilgrimage for all the members. Many of them cruise here. It would not be surprising if 20,000 persons came in this manner alone.

Figures on 300,000 or More.
"In addition, we would expect to draw attendance for the regatta from the states of nearby Missouri and Illinois. St. Louis alone ought to give us 200,000 in two days. I have that estimate on the fact that for our 100-mile race a single event completed in one day, we drew an estimated attendance of 100,000. With a two-day program, interspersed with seaplane races and other features, I feel that I can guarantee that between 300,000 and 400,000 persons will view some of the races.

Expenses $15,000 for Charity.
"The net amount of that will cover the event without charge. However, we can get a large number of barges—I have been told that at least 10 Government barges alone will be available—and put more than 30,000 seats on them for which we will charge $2 each, perhaps more. In this way I expect to make about $15,000 net profits all of which will be turned over to the Community Fund or some other public beneficiary.

"The actual expenses of the affair we hope to meet by an advertising program.

"This is a great event with entries from both sea coasts, the Great Lakes and even from Canada. I feel sure that we will be able to convince the M. V. P. B. A. officials that St. Louis is the place to hold next year's regatta."

STOPS BOUT TO "SAVE"
BOXER, GETS HIMSELF
PUNCHED BY MANAGER

Special to the Post-Dispatch
CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 20.—A boxer's manager and one of his seconds were held in $1000 bail each today, charged with initiating a riot, the result of a free-for-all fight here last night that followed the referee's decision in the eight-round bout between Sailor Freeman of Camp Dix, and Dick Nichols, a local boxer.

With 57 seconds to go, referee Blanchard stopped the bout and gave Nichols a technical knock-out to Freeman, from the punishment," immediately police alleged. Mary Cohen of Mount Holly, N. J., one of Freeman's seconds, and Peter O'Garek his manager, jumped into the ring and are alleged to have punched the referee.

Scores of spectators ducked under the ropes and joined the battle royal, and a squad of police, armed with night sticks, was needed to break up the混战.

Cohen and O'Garek were severely cut and bruised in the melee before they were arrested.

CIRCUIT RACE WILL HAVE $20,000 VALUE
By the Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 20.—Race of the Racy Day Sweepstakes, richest of Grand Circuit events for 2-year-old trotters, was announced today by President Win Kinman of the North Randall track. Entries close Dec. 1. The first race in 1922 with a value of $8000, was worth $17,500 this year. Kinman expects the 1926 value to be around $20,000.

It will be raced at the August meeting.

Kinman also announced plans for another stake for 2-year-old trotters, in which only Cleveland-bred colts will be eligible. It will be known as "The Homebrew" and may also be raced at the August meeting.

PRINCIPIA READY FOR
WARRENTON, TOMORROW

The Principia Academy football team is ready for the game with Central Wesleyan College eleven, to be played at Warrenton, Mo. tomorrow afternoon. For the past week Coaches Kau and Berninger have given the Academy squad plenty of work. Eight small games will be on the program this afternoon, the last practice before the game.

Central Wesleyan has a splendid record this year. Nearly all members of the squad are playing their third successive season. In addition, the school will play Principia, probably 16 pounds per man.

Assistant Coach Berninger has seen Central Wesleyan play its last two games. He gave the team's plays to the second Academy eleven.

He held several long scrimmages sessions with the regulars during the week.

The Principia team to make the trip tomorrow will consist of 28 men. The team will have a combined session of 400 persons made up of about 25 students, graduates and other supporters, in addition to the Principia student band of 20 men. The band will be the odd attraction for the annual Dad's Day celebration. A special train will leave Delmar Station at 9:30 tomorrow morning.

4TH

in America

The volume of Total Paid Advertising carried by the Post-Dispatch in October was the fourth largest among all metropolitan newspapers in America—and, as usual, first in St. Louis. This new high record advances the Post-Dispatch from seventh to fourth place in America, and second in the nation's group of great evening and Sunday newspapers.

Because of the marked supremacy of the Post-Dispatch as an advertising medium in St. Louis, this one newspaper alone regularly carries far more paid advertising than the second and third newspapers combined—often more than all three others combined.

The fact that the Post-Dispatch is first in its home city and fourth in America, while the second newspaper in St. Louis is thirty-eighth in America, emphasizes the important position occupied by the Post-Dispatch among America's leading newspapers.

The Post-Dispatch naturally takes a measure of pride in its enviable po sition with such newspapers as the Detroit News, the Chicago Tribune and the New York Times—all of which are published in cities which surpass St. Louis in population.

Results are responsible for this advertising supremacy. Local advertisers who concentrate the major portion of their advertising in the Post-Dispatch, and those who depend upon the Post-Dispatch exclusively, have learned, through many years of experience, that this one newspaper produces more sales at less cost than can be secured from any other St. Louis newspaper, or combination of newspapers.

MODERN HOMES ONLY 'FILLING STATIONS'

They Are Places Where Families Meet Occasionally for Meals, Women Asserts.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO.—Modern homes were termed "filling stations" where the family meets occasionally for meals, by Mrs. Thomas M. Kilbride of Springfield, president of the Illinois Council of Parent-Teacher Associations in addressing the fall conference of the Chicago District Council here. Homes are becoming "silent partners" in child training. Mrs. Kilbride declared, in comparing present day home life with life in the nineteenth century.

"A little over a hundred years ago," she said, "97 per cent of the people in the United States lived on the farm. The mother taught her daughter to be a housekeeper and homemaker, and the boy was instructed by his father as to the best methods of farming. The home at that time was a practical laboratory for utility in life. All this is gone." Now, 97 per cent of the people live in cities of $900 or more inhabitants and only 40 per cent of the people are left on the farm. Machinery on the farm and the manufacture in the city has displaced the roomy home of yore.

"There is scarcely such a thing as home life in the city. There is a place which might be termed a "filling station," where the family meets occasionally for meals, but there is little privacy in many cases, no room for play, no place for study, and frequently sanitation is at its worst."

"The ideal child should be sound physically, mentally, morally and trained for utility in citizenship. The schools are attempting almost unaided to do all this, with the result that the physical and moral training of the child are in a state of bankruptcy, because the home is not on the job. Parents must be home-makers and let the children see and experience love, sympathy and patience. In moral training there must be co-operative training. The parents must work with the schools."

Paderewski to Play in Washington

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, Polish pianist and former Premier of Poland, has determined to give a recital in Washington for the benefit of the American Legion Endowment Fund. The date will be announced later. It had been said Paderewski had declined all invitations to play in Washington, as he did not wish to appear as a paid artist before audiences made up of persons with whom he had dealt officially as Premier of his country.

The schools are attempting almost unaided to do all this, with the result that the physical and moral training of the child are in a state of bankruptcy, because the home is not on the job. Parents must be home-makers and let the children see and experience love, sympathy and patience. In moral training there must be co-operative training. The parents must work with the schools."

MASS MEETING IN SEDALIA TO CONSIDER HOTEL PLAN

J. H. Bothwell, formerly of St. Louis, Makes Offer, Including Sedalia Post-Disc.

SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 20.—A mass meeting will be held at the Pettis County Courthouse here tonight to consider plans for a new hotel and hospital, proposed for Sedalia, for which John H. Bothwell, former officer of the West End Power and Light Co., St. Louis, has volunteered a donation.

Bothwell's offer is property valued at $30,000 and $50,000 in cash to start the erection of the hotel. Upon his death Bothwell says he will leave $100,000 in cash and his $80,000 stock in the hotel, making a total of $180,000, for the construction of a thoroughly modern and properly equipped Sedalia and Pettis County hospital.

The hotel proposal is contingent on the purchase of $140,000 worth of stock in the hotel, the remainder of funds for the $300,000 structure to be obtained from other sources. A committee of leading citizens has approved the plan and the mass meeting tonight is for the purpose of familiarizing others with the movement. Bothwell and other prominent Sedallians will speak.

EAST ST. LOUIS HOTEL PLAN

Officers have been elected to head new plans to construct a 250-room hotel at Broadway and Fourth street, East St. Louis, it was announced yesterday.

Charles Roger, president and manager of the McMahon Transfer Co., was elected president and S. D. Sexton, secretary. Roger was unable to state how large a capitalization the new company would have since a meeting of the executive officers just convened had been held. It is possible that they will hold office only temporarily.

The present company marks the third attempt in two years to construct a large hotel in East St. Louis. The Chamber of Commerce backed a stock proposition a year ago whereby a hotel was to be erected on Missouri avenue, and in the spring of this year a similar plan was unsuccessful.

Newsboy on Wheel Hit by Auto.

Hugo Trieb, 12 years old, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Trieb, and a Belleville newsboy, yesterday suffered a double fracture of the nose and cuts and bruises on his face and body, when he was hit by an automobile while riding his bicycle at Charles and Washington streets. Charles Ernst, a St. Louis traveling salesman, drove the car that hit the bicycle when the boy was hurt. Trieb is in St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

LABOR SAYS DAWES WOULD GIVE SHOALS TO EXPLORERS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—An attack on Vice President Dawes and his plan to reform Senate rules was made today by the American Federation of Labor in its weekly news service.

"In favoring a gag on Senate debate," the federation said, "Dawes let the cat out of the bag in New York last week. He said a filibuster defeated the Muscle Shoals bill. In diplomatic terms, Dawes has assured his select audience that if the bill could be rammed through the Senate, as is the House, one of the country's greatest water-power projects would now be in control of private exploiters."

Declaring that in the next Congress reduction of surtaxes, repeal of the income publicity law, abolition of inheritance taxes, the Teapot Dome scandal and "several other embarrassing subjects" would come up, the federation said these furnished a reason "for opposition to Senate rules which permit the public to become acquainted with matters of vital interest to them."

The hotel proposal is contingent on the purchase of $140,000 worth of stock in the hotel, the remainder of funds for the $300,000 structure to be obtained from other sources. A committee of leading citizens has approved the plan and the mass meeting tonight is for the purpose of familiarizing others with the movement. Bothwell and other prominent Sedallians will speak.

MISSOURI TEACHER 50 YEARS DIES

MACON, Mo., Nov. 20.—Miss

Nannie Vickroy, 74 years old, a teacher in the Macon County schools 50 years, died at Bucklin this morning. Some years ago

Miss Vickroy's answer to the question of a newspaper "Who is the greatest woman in all history?" won the prize with the answer that it was the wife of the Missouri farmer who reared and educated her children well and made a happy home for them and her husband. Her answer was so well worded that it was copied by leading publications all over the country.

The Darling of Destiny

by MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER XIII.

HERE was silence for a long time, broken only by the croaking of the frogs in the pond, the chirping of the cricket, and the sighing of the wind in the trees. Tony's hand tightened on Sue's arm.

"Are you afraid of the dark?" he asked, a bit huskily.

"She laughed. "Not in the least. We have lots of dark nights in Virginia. I rather like them."

Tony thought heavily for a moment.

"You know, you are really awfully sweet."

"Am I?" she mocked. "A number of people have told me so, but I never believed it—before."

It was apparently not the reply Tony expected. He made another attempt, looking down at her profile, only faintly distinguishable in the starlight. He could just see the curve of her cheek and the sweep of her hair with a few short curly clusters around her ears.

"When you look like that, you make me want to kiss you."

She laughed again and pushed him away. "I'll kiss you later."

"Please don't. It isn't necessary to make love to me just because I am a girl alone with you in the dark. Let's be friends; it will be lots nicer."

"Where is Roger?" demanded the Colonel.

Joan hesitated.

"I don't believe he came back from town last night," she said in a low voice.

Mrs. Blanchard uttered a feeble little moan.

"It's that awful girl, I know it! I can't bear any more trouble!"

She slipped away before the ensuing family discussion. She wandered across the garden to the tall hedge which separated the Blanchard place from the vacant estate next door. There was a small cleft in the hedge that she had never noticed before. It had rather an intriguing look; it suggested to her ready imagination a gate to a lover's trysting place.

She studied it for a long time, quite unaware of the dramatic part it was shortly to play in her own life.

CHAPTER XIV.

THE summer dragged its hot length slowly and wearily. Anxieties accumulated in the Blanchard home. Though they were kept carefully below the surface, there was a small cleft in the hedge that she had never noticed before. It had rather an intriguing look; it suggested to her ready imagination a gate to a lover's trysting place.

They ate them there by the roadside, and after awhile the moon came up, all mellow and golden and beautiful. The two men got into a discussion over a forthcoming tournament at the club which they explained in detail to Sue. She went quietly to sleep, cuddled up in Joan's wraps; but they did not suspect it and talked on enthusiastically to an apparently interested listener.

It was nearly midnight before Sue reached home. Mrs. Blanchard, finding that Josephine was quite comfortable, had gone to a dance at the club, and Joan was waiting to give them supper.

Sue never forgot the sight of her face when Tony declined to stay; it was painful in its disappointment. It wrung Sue's heart with pity to see that Joan should care so much and have so little ability to conceal it.

"A special-delivery letter came for you, Sue," Joan told her. "It is from your husband."

When Sue went to get it, she found it propped conspicuously against the base of the lamp. In the upper left-hand corner it bore the letterhead of Romany's in Fifth avenue.

She tore it open with trembling fingers. It informed her briefly that her pearl necklace had proved to be the missing one for which the $10,000 reward had been offered. If she would call at his office, he would give her the money.

She lay awake for hours, thinking of all the things she could do with $10,000, pretty frocks and furs, and jewels paraded before her closed eyelids as she reluctantly sought sleep; but a queer instinctive something told her to bank the money and not mention its existence to a soul.

She made a fetish of her instincts and having arrived at this conclusion, she slept the sleep of a healthy young animal.

It was late when she awoke, and the Colonel and Mrs. Blanchard were already at breakfast when she went downstairs. The former was glowering into the pages of the morning paper. Mrs. Blanchard wore the most woe-begone expression.

"Is anything the matter?" Sue asked solicitously. "Surely Josephine is not worse?"

"You can't hurt Josephine," growled the Colonel. "She is like a cat, always lands on her feet."

"It's Mrs. Darlington's ball," explained Mrs. Blanchard tearfully.

"The invitations went out last night and none came for me." She ran her hand deprecatingly through her morning-length hair. "She gives this big affair once a year and everybody is invited. Not to receive a card is the cut direct; it will just about finish us socially."

"But no one will know," Sue consoled her. "If you are not seen there, won't people just think that you did not care to go, or are ill or something?"

The Colonel snorted behind his newspaper.

"The fool women around here would go if they had to be taken on a stretcher."

"It's really too cruel," sighed his wife. "I wonder why I have so much to bear. First Josephine's it necessary for her to handle the situation with diplomacy. Therefore she was quite ready with an unanswerable argument when he proposed to her one night in the garden.

"I'm so sorry," she actually looked it, too, with the moonlight revealing her eyes, blue and winsome. "But you see, you are too late to love someone else."

He was slightly taken aback, but he recovered quickly.

"That's absurd. You are too young to know whether or not you are in love. I'll bet it's some boy and girl love affair back home."

She thought of Tom Sheldon but decided against him as possibility: an impetuous young farmer would have little chance by the standards by which the Blanchards measured life.

"No," she shook her head.

Hinkamp looked puzzled.

"But surely not someone you have met here! I have kept your time pretty well occupied ever since you arrived. You haven't had much chance to meet men. I almost forgot about this chap, won't you?"

"Whoever he is, he can't love you more than I do. I don't believe he can give you as much; you can have anything you want from me."

He took both her hands, quite unaware of her instinctive shrinking.

"I'll build you the finest house on Long Island, and you can have an apartment in town, and all the cars you want; everything the finest that money can buy; or we will travel if you like and live abroad if you find you prefer it—what more could your young lover give you?"

She withdrew her hands from his moist, unpleasant clasp and shook her head.

"I'm sorry," she repeated. "But the joy of life is really giving, not receiving, and, you see, I have given him my love. I can't give it to you."

She withdrew her hands from his moist, unpleasant clasp and shook her head.

"I'm sorry," she repeated. "But the joy of life is really giving, not receiving, and, you see, I have given him my love. I can't give it to you."

She withdrew her hands from his moist, unpleasant clasp and shook her head.

"I'm sorry," she repeated. "But the joy of life is really giving, not receiving, and, you see, I have given him my love. I can't give it to you."

He reached out for her, but she slipped to her feet.

"Please, I shall never change. I know it."

He rose, too, and his mouth was set determinedly.

"I'm going in," he said deliberately, "and tell the Colonel and Mrs. Blanchard that you have refused me because of another man. I asked them for you some time ago, and they told me that you were quite free to receive my attentions. And they told me that you were a young and inexperienced girl. I think your guardians should know about this secret love affair."

"Oh, please!" Sue stretched forward, a dainty hand, but he ignored it and stalked into the house.

She sank into a chair, not knowing whether to laugh or cry.

"Now you are in a fine jam, Sue," she told herself ruefully. "You must invent a lover and invent him dark quick."

To Be Continued.

Heavy Vegetable Soup.

This soup has a meat foundation. Take a two-pound shinbone surrounded with meat and place in the soup pot with four quarts of cold water, a big onion sliced thin, a diced potato, a diced carrot, chopped celery and parsley, a sliced leak, a half bud of garlic, a cupful of thinly sliced cabbage, and a small can of tomatoes. Cover and bring to a boil, then skim the foam off to remove any scum. Let the soup boil for 30 minutes, then add a little of the meat and return it to the soup. Serve the soup hot, and the next day remove the meat and reheat the rest, adding a quarter cupful of rice or barley. Cook until the cereal addition is done. This is a heavy garnished soup.

She was apparently serene. But it was a surface serenity, because at heart she was very much troubled. Hinkamp's attentions were becoming more and more insistent, and each visit of his she became distinctly more fearful. She no longer needed Haskamp to tell her what was expected of her. It was as obvious as if the Blanchards had told her. She was expected to marry Haskamp and return them of further responsibility concerning her.

She had made no mention of the reward she had received for the pearls. After due thought regarding it, she had sent a considerable amount of it to Aunt Sally to relieve certain pressing obligations, and some she had spent for necessary frocks for herself. She had chosen such simple things as not to alarm Mrs. Blanchard or Joan's suspicions, but once in a while she caught Josephine looking at her querulously. For a long time she had known that she was making an enemy of Josephine. She wondered whether it was because Josephine had had to take her into her confidence on the night of the accident, or whether it was because Tony invariably paid flattering attention to Sue when they met at parties. He seemed to find relief in her presence, but even when they were alone he never again attempted a kiss.

She made a fetish of her instincts and having arrived at this conclusion, she slept the sleep of a healthy young animal.

It was late when she awoke, and the Colonel and Mrs. Blanchard were already at breakfast when she went downstairs. The former was glowering into the pages of the morning paper. Mrs. Blanchard wore the most woe-begone expression.

"Is anything the matter?" Sue asked solicitously. "Surely Josephine is not worse?"

"You can't hurt Josephine," growled the Colonel. "She is like a cat, always lands on her feet."

"It's Mrs. Darlington's ball," explained Mrs. Blanchard tearfully.

"The invitations went out last night and none came for me." She ran her hand deprecatingly through her morning-length hair. "She gives this big affair once a year and everybody is invited. Not to receive a card is the cut direct; it will just about finish us socially."

"But no one will know," Sue consoled her. "If you are not seen there, won't people just think that you did not care to go, or are ill or something?"

The Colonel snorted behind his newspaper.

"The fool women around here would go if they had to be taken on a stretcher."

"It's really too cruel," sighed his wife. "I wonder why I have so much to bear. First Josephine's

When cleaning the bookcase dust the leather-bound books with slightly oiled cloths to restore some of the oil which has dried out. If books are not in constant use this is really necessary.

If the monogram is still good when the handkerchief is worn out, cut out the monogram, allowing enough material to turn in around it and buttonhole in, tiny stitches on to a plain, unmarked handkerchief. It will be most effective and can be improved by beauty treatment.

A buttonhole stitch will keep the snap on indefinitely.

A lead comb will subdue the fire of a few hairs.

Thorough rinsing of clothes is absolutely essential to perfect washing.

Remove hot ashes as soon as the fire is raked and avoid worn-out grates.

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By NELLIE GARDNER

Know Your Break Rules

Do you make the rules in life, or do they make you? Have you learned to estimate between those that were made to be broken, and those that were made to be stretched, and those which should remain?

No surer gauge of a person's tendency to move forward or stand still, in any endeavor, than that of when to keep rules.

How many times in your life have you been exasperated by some person—usually quite far down the salary scale—who refused to meet the demand of the emergency?

When this happened, when you—either aloud, or quietly in your mind? Wasn't it like this: "That person will never get very far. She has imagination nor gumption. Of initiation, or daring, or will to assume responsibility she has none. She who keeps all rules intelligently, and so unintelligently, will never be allowed to make others."

Blind obedience is not an animal can do as much. But even a dog will show growing power, and will break a well-known rule, when the need is. Stupid would be the dog indeed that would not leap the screen door, if the house caught afire! And yet no wise soul should indulge in this acrobatic feat just for sport.

It is only when obedient and understanding that it means anything.

Judgment is the big main business success. Study all angles of your industry or art, so that you have intelligent grasp of its intricate details as larger aspects, and then be prepared to act when the crises arise.

It is the spirit of obedience, and not the letter.

It is getting the work done, that matters, and not the mere observance of office rules!

How many an ingenious been cramped by an overdose of rules!

Columbus heard them against crossing the ocean and seeking new lands.

Did that prevent him from new world maps, and making immortal the year of 1492?

How to Utilize Spare Time.

WOMAN wanted to earn some extra money in part of her spare time. She lived in a small town and had a son and husband, the other to school, who hung heavily on her hands. She wanted occupation. Looked into her own capabilities, possibilities of her home and surroundings, like her own good health, she set up her mind what to do.

Then, she called upon a druggist in a busy section and an order from him to supply powder for his soda fountain for a week on trial. By the end of the week, standing room in the order of things and the noon hour and his regular orders, but before three-quarters of the people were

This was but the beginning of this ambitious woman's business. She visited the school board and got the privilege of putting on the schools telling of "home-made" luncheon boxes furnished daily at a modest price. She reached the point where she began to demand more than her route to that country had in search of it. A Lavish Use of Fur Trimming Distinguishes Fall Coats.

No season in many years has offered so many variations in the matter of Winter wraps.

Perhaps the most popular of all are those which are clever combinations of woolen, silk, and fur.

This coat is fashioned of suede-like cloth of a deep royal blue. The collar may be buttoned closely around the throat against penetrating winds, and allows the open grace of the sketch illustrates.

Japanese mink is the fur which is used. The unusual length of the fur extends at the sides above the wrap distinction, as well as the competition of the ruffed effect on the sleeve. Almost without exception coats are fastened quite definitely on one hip.

Clear Tomato Soup.

To one large can of tomatoes, add a can and a half of water. Slice in one onion, dice in a carrot and a little chopped celery and parsley.

Bring to boiling point, then simmer gently for a half hour. Strain through a very fine sieve, reheat, season to taste with pepper, salt and a little sugar, and add a little arrow-root dissolved in cold water to slightly thicken to the consistency of thin cream. Strain into a tureen. Serve with croutons. This is a thin soup.

PRIVATE FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR QUEEN ALEXANDRA

Rites in Room Where Body Lies Attended by King George and Near Relatives.

LONDON SERVICE IN TWO WEEKS

Body of Widow of King Edward Will Be Placed in Vault in Windsor Castle.

By the Associated Press. SANDRINGHAM, England, Nov. 21.—Private family services for Dowager Queen Alexandra were conducted today by her chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Grant, in the bedroom of Sandringham House, where the body is lying. The King and Queen and other near relatives attended. Dr. F. J. Willans, who attended the Queen in her fatal illness, told the Associated Press: "Queen Alexandra was unconscious to the last. She uttered no word. The end was the most peaceful anyone could possibly wish."

A singular coincidence occurred in connection with the death. The visitors' book of Sandringham House, in use for 35 years, was completed, the final signature on the last page being made within a few hours of the Queen's passing.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Nov. 21.—The British Empire is in mourning over the passing of the beloved Dowager Queen Alexandra. Flags flew at half mast in London today, and many buildings were draped in black.

Death came to the Danish Prince late yesterday afternoon in Sandringham Palace, while the King, George, and Queen Mary and various members of the royal household stood at the bedside. The Prince of Wales, a favorite grandson, was delayed by heavy fog, as he traveled from London to Sandringham, and did not reach the palace in time to bid his grandmother farewell.

Listeners throughout the British Isles heard over their radio sets that the widow of King Edward VII and the mother of their present monarch, had gone to her last rest. In London, from 8 to 9 o'clock the big bell in St. Paul's tolled the tale of the passing of a member of the royal family. It is only when a member of royalty dies that the clang of the bell in St. Paul's Cathedral is heard.

Numerous social functions arranged for last night were canceled. The theaters did not receive the news in time to close, but in them, and in the motion picture houses, funeral marches were played.

No date has been announced for the funeral. The body will be taken to Windsor Castle to lie in the royal vault in St. George's Chapel. It is expected, however, that the funeral will not be held for two weeks.

Social Events Canceled. All deaths in the royal family affect closely the arrangements of society and often influence public events. A number of events in which members of the royal family had announced their intention to participate, and many banquets and festivals have been canceled. A period of mourning will be observed by those connected with the court and by a large number of persons outside that circle.

When Queen Victoria died many people wore black for some weeks. Dealers in women's wear in the west end of London began last evening to replace old garments and millinery in their shop windows with black apparel in anticipation of a considerable demand from those who desire to go into mourning.

The American Ambassador, Alison B. Houghton, today sent his personal condolences to King George. He also expressed to the foreign office the sympathy of the American nation.

Parliament Not to Adjourn. It is understood that Parliament will not adjourn, as is the case when a reigning sovereign dies, but formal votes of condolence to the King and the royal family will be made by both houses.

Arrangements have been made for signing the Locarno treaties in London Dec. 1. If the Queen's death causes any alteration in the date for signing the pacts, many foreign countries must be consulted. It is taken for granted, however, that if the date is not changed the proposed banquet of King George to the signatories will be
